

SEN. VANDENBERG ASKS ALLIED DRIVE ON DEAL

Michigan G. O. P. Leader Calls F. D. R. Forces a "Third Party."

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—(AP)—Picturing the forces of recovery as straining at a leash held by the New Deal, Senator Arthur N. Vandenberg tonight urged an allied campaign against what he called the "third party" now in power.

The Michigan republican, a potential candidate for his party's presidential nomination, took cheer from the anti-New Deal speech of former Governor Alfred E. Smith and said he welcomed "Jeffersonian co-operation."

"Not only in the battle line," he added, "but subsequently in the council chamber after next November's victory is won."

Senator Vandenberg followed on a radio hook-up former President Herbert Hoover, who spoke from the opposite end of the country, in an attack on the national administration. Their words were broadcast to approximately 3,000 Lincoln Day dinners throughout the country.

Terminating the present year "one of the great epochs in constitutional democracy," Vandenberg alternated between sarcastic references to "eager bureaucrats" and his suggestions for reform.

Quoting the words of Lincoln, he said: "Let us turn this government back into the channel in which the framers of the constitution originally placed it." As specific steps in this direction he listed the following:

- 1. Elimination of the unemployment problem by giving private business "a chance."
- 2. A balanced budget.
- 3. A stable currency.
- 4. Proper tariff protection for American products.
- 5. A two-price system (foreign and domestic) for agriculture.

Senator Vandenberg, who spoke at a dinner of the National Republican Club, prefaced his remarks with an allusion to President Roosevelt as an executive who "has frankly expressed his contemptuous wish that no constitutional scruple, however persuasive, should interrupt his infatuated program."

Vandenberg sustained the President in his original emergency program, he said, "but I could not follow him—then or now—when he creates more emergencies than he cures."

"We are now ready for restoratives rather than narcotics. Business is better because the inevitable cycle has long since reached the upswing. The forces of recovery are straining at the leash. They beg for a chance—and the best welfare of 10,000,000 unemployed join the prayer."

DEAL IS FEAR FOUNTAIN SAYS HERBERT HOOVER

and Theodore Roosevelt used in presidential addresses.

Further, the broadside of accusations against his successor included:

1. The "explosive" forces of inflation are already being generated, resulting for one thing in higher living costs.
2. The New Deal seeks to persuade voters for it from relief recipients.
3. An unbalanced budget and unstable currency are retarding recovery.
4. The budget at present is the "worst balanced in history."
5. The confusion characterizing other activities is not present in New Deal policies.

"The President . . . says 'The only thing we have to fear is fear,' Hoover said. 'Just so. The New Deal has been a veritable fountain of fear. The day after the New Deal was sired life . . . began the Great Fear which created the bank panic of March 4 (1933). The stock boom today is not from confidence in the future; it is partly from fear of inflation.'"

Unemployment of millions in the capital goods industries, he said, is due to fear of New Deal currency policies.

Charges of "confusion" were leveled at administration fiscal and relief policies in a new tack of Hoover's criticism upon these New Deal items.

"Within a month since the President's message," he declared, "it has become more confused by four or five billions more expenditures."

"The national debt now bids fair to rise to a minimum of $35,000,000,000," Hoover said in asserting the increase of $12,500,000,000 during his administration is only "about 10 per cent of what New Deal mechanics will accomplish."

"This nation has been steered into the dangerous channels of borrowing these vast deficits . . . by a huge cycle of bank credit inflation. That is printing press credit. The charts of all history show this channel leads to currency inflation. Every democracy which has entered these straight has been sunk."

"Today the budget is the worst balanced in history, the currency has its foundation in the will of one man."

"The explosive forces of inflation are already being generated."

He charged the average prices of industrial common stocks today are at the 1926 levels.

"But in 1926 there were no unemployed; today there are 10,000,000 unemployed."

He said that in 1926 foreign trade was flourishing, while today it is "demoralized," that in 1926 the budget was balanced, the currency stable.

"The average price of industrial stocks has been restored to 1926, but have the real incomes of farmers and labor been restored?"

"These currency and credit policies," Hoover asserted, "have driven men all over the nation into a scramble of buying securities to protect themselves."

"Millions have been made in the stock market. . . . At the same time millions of Americans are tramping the streets looking for work."

Cost of Living.

He asserted the cost of living has soared from administration devaluation and inflation policies.

"But the dollar has ever occurred to American wage earners that devaluation was a cut in wages?" he asked.

"Both we and our children will pay for these follies."

"Does that point the way to a finer, better, happier life?"

"A balanced budget and stable currency could put more money to work than the whole WPA. They need confidence, not confusion."

He asserted the New Deal relief policy "under political control from Washington" is aimed at obtaining the relief recipients' votes and charged the "poison of politics is mixed in the bread of the helpless."

"But the ballot box is secret, and the conscience of the average man and woman may not be confused."

Referring to "mutterings" that the constitution is outmoded, he declared, "no progressive mind will feel that the constitution shall not be changed to meet the needs of changing national life."

"But what is the change these men harbor in their minds. The American people have a right to know . . . now."

Supreme Court Rulings.

"To the supreme court, Hoover attributed 'decisions crashing through New Deal tyrannies which brought a gleam of confidence from the fears that had retarded recovery.'"

The former chief executive, still silent on his plans for the coming campaign, pounced upon what he said was the administration's civil service record to show there is "no confusion in New Deal policies."

He said officials under civil service increased in his administration to 81 per cent from the 50 per cent of the Coolidge administration, but that under President Roosevelt, the percentage had dropped to 57. He said the New Deal had increased part or full time federal officials by over 300,000.

Hoover accused President Roosevelt of "confusing the public mind" by reference to "money changers," "seekers for selfish power" and "entrenched greed."

"It has merit as a class to class war," he said, "a red herring across the trail of failure . . . a claim that righteousness now has refuge alone in Washington, and an avoidance of fact and figures. It is not the mould of debate of Abraham Lincoln. It does not heal the wounds of the nation."

He referred to a statement by Mr. Roosevelt that "the money changers have fled from . . . the temple of our civilization."

"It would appear," said Mr. Hoover, "that after three years of the New Deal they have all come back again with helpers."

Army Bomber Crashes—But All Lives Are Saved

Four army men bailed out of this big bombing plane when it faltered and dropped 2,500 feet, eight miles from Candler field yesterday. The plane, as you see, was hopelessly wrecked, but the old army rule that all fliers must wear parachutes whenever they are in the air saved the lives of the plane's four occupants. Staff photo.

ALEX HOWELL INDICTED BY U. S. GRAND JURY

in charge of the Atlanta office of the WPA division of investigation, was concerned with a comparative study of Georgia educational records for the past 15 years.

The indictment, in five counts, alleged 4 of the 10 workers on the project were engaged at various times in preparing The Georgia Woman's World for mailing and in copying mailing lists.

The final count charged him with diverting these services "for the benefit of himself and for the benefit of other persons to your grand jurors unknown."

Copies of Time Reports.

The political work was alleged to have been carried on at various intervals from December 2 to January 17.

The indictment contained what purported to be photostatic copies of time reports on the project signed by Howell, followed by allegations the workers were engaged in the political work at times when the report showed them to have been working on the educational project.

"I have never falsified any records," Alex Howell's statement said, "neither have I worked any WPA employees except on Saturdays and holidays and then at their own request in order for them to make a little extra money in their desperate plight to keep body and soul together."

"I consider no sacrifice too great for me to pay if, by so doing, we can win the control of our government out of the hands of the socialists and communists now in command in Washington."

Attacks on Roosevelt.

The Georgia Woman's World, edited by Mrs. J. R. Wakefield, of Atlanta, has carried out political and personal attacks against President and Mrs. Roosevelt.

Copies of the publication were distributed at the Mason "grass roots" convention at which Hugh Howell presided. Talmadge disclaimed responsibility, however.

The paper carried pictures of the President and Mrs. Roosevelt in which negroes also appeared.

Alex Howell, in his statement yesterday said, "I do not believe the south is yet ready to practice social equality, even though the present occupant of the White House does."

Three of the counts in the indictment charged Howell with making "false certificates, rolls and accounts" on the WPA project. They charged the workers were engaged part of the time in stamping, addressing, bundling and otherwise preparing for mailing, a certain newspaper publication known and designated as the Georgia Woman's World.

Another count charged the employees were "employed under the direction and supervision of said defendant in copying names and addresses furnished by said defendant." It charged him with falsifying the records in this instance.

The final count charged the WPA services were "diverted," but did not allege records were falsified.

HOPKINS OFFICE SILENT ON HOWELL CRITICISM

Howell, former supervisor of the Georgia state department of education, who was indicted in connection with allegedly using WPA workers to mail out anti-

Impairment Feared.

The reason was given as first, that such a move might impair the government bond market at a time when several billions of new offerings must be floated before the end of the present fiscal year; and second, that government bonds represent virtually the only earning assets the reserve banks now have in their portfolios.

The council was represented as feeling there is considerable evidence of a recovery in business; and of an increase in prices generally and particularly in the security market, with the possibility that a too rapid advance could easily develop into a new wave of speculation, such as existed in 1929.

The constant pressure of the present excess reserve council members were said to feel, has a distinct tendency to foster and encourage speculative activity. The council was represented as believing that such reserves, the banking system still would be prepared to meet any and all legitimate and proper demands for bank credit.

The council, it is understood, also took up the question of credit which banks may extend on registered securities. This question is being considered by the reserve board, which will shortly issue a regulation "U" which will govern the rates.

New Deal literature, had said his brother was framed because the action was "instigated by Harry Hopkins, who has thrown away more of the taxpayers' money than any man in America."

ALL U. S. ARMY PLANES EQUIPPED WITH RADIO

Nation Now Leads World in Modern "Radioized" Aircraft.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—(AP)—Signal corps officers reported tonight that the army's 1,150 war planes at last are fully equipped with radio communication and the utmost in military navigation devices.

The program to "radioize" the army, it was disclosed, also has produced a miniature radio set—designed to be carried on the backs of infantrymen—with a talking range of one mile.

No other nation, it was said, now surpasses the United States in radio equipment on planes.

Major General J. B. Allison, chief signal officer, has informed the house appropriations committee that funds now being asked will make it possible to immediately install radio equipment on all planes purchased in 1937 and in the future.

Equipment of the army's planes meets one of the chief criticisms of an air corps board following investigation of mail carrying by army planes two years ago when commercial contracts were canceled.

The board, headed by Newton D. Baker, former secretary of war, found that installation of radio safety devices, and especially equipment and training in "blind flying" were vitally necessary.

The signal corps, in co-operation with the infantry, cavalry and other branches, also is going ahead with its program to provide all combat units with short wave equipment.

Ramey Painting on Exhibition at Library

Miss Alice Glenn, clerk at the Carnegie library, is shown with one of the 11 paintings by George Ramey, Atlanta artist, which are on exhibition in the new Carnegie annex. The scene is of a house in Newnan, Ga. The Ramey show is the first of a series of exhibitions by Atlanta painters. Staff photo.

PAINTINGS EXHIBITION IS OPENED AT LIBRARY

George Ramey Collection To Be Exhibited in New Annex.

Bright, harmonious color is the theme of 11 paintings being exhibited in the new Carnegie library annex by George Ramey, Atlanta artist and architect.

The paintings, all of scenes in Georgia, are the first of a series of exhibitions which the library and the Studio Club will sponsor.

A scientifically lighted wall is used for the art exhibitions, having been constructed in the new annex with WPA funds.

The correct lighting effects greatly enhance the beauty of the pictures which are placed on exhibition. Herebefore pictures shown at the library were hung in ill-lighted spots about the reading rooms and lost much of their charm through shadows and bad lighting.

Miss Jessie Hopkins, librarian, announced that the work of many Atlanta artists will be shown in the new annex and that exhibits by nationally famous painters will be brought here.

L. P. Skidmore, director of the High Museum of Art, and Harold Bush-Brown, professor of architecture at Georgia Tech, designed the new exhibition space.

Ramey's pictures are done in the modern manner and depict various scenes in Atlanta and Coweta county. Those on exhibition were chosen, says the artist, because of their harmony of color.

Atlanta visitors to the exhibit will be particularly interested in such scenes as shown in the pictures entitled "The Old Marietta Road," and "Homes Across the Way," which shows houses on Myrtle street. Rural scenes at Newnan in Coweta are mingled with abstract paintings of peaceful green mountains and moon flowers.

The Ramey show will continue for several weeks.

NAVAL LIMITATION SEEN AFTER TALK

U. S., Britain, France and Italy May Build Two
35,000-Ton Ships.

LONDON, Feb. 12.—(UP)—An agreement for limitation of battleships is in sight, it was stated tonight after a meeting of British and American delegates rejuvenated the moribund naval conference.

The proposed agreement would limit Britain, United States, France and Italy to construction of two capital ships of 35,000 tons and 14-inch guns for the six-year duration of the prospective treaty.

The four powers agreed previously on cruisers, aircraft carriers, submarines and other categories of war vessels.

Leaders of the British and American delegations had the conference at the foreign office after the British had conferred with members of the French delegation. The French are consulting the cabinet in Paris, after which the proposal will be reconsidered.

Sole remaining major difference between the four powers is the method of approach to be used for possible inclusion of Japan, Germany and perhaps Russia in the naval limitation agreement.

JAMES I. COLEMAN PASSES AT HOME

74-Year-Old Retired Railway Clerk Dies After Week's Illness.

James I. Coleman, resident of Atlanta for 50 years and retired railway mail clerk, died at his home this morning at his residence, 505 Holder street, S. W.

He was 74 years of age, and had been ill a week.

A native of Pickens county, Mr. Coleman attended the North Georgia Agricultural College at Dalton, Ga., and following his graduation, taught for a time in the schools of Rockdale county.

Until his retirement 10 years ago, he had served for many years in the railway mail service on routes between Atlanta, Jacksonville and Brunswick.

He was an active member of Calvary Methodist church, and served as steward and Sunday school teacher.

His wife, the former Miss Edith Treadwell; two daughters, Mrs. A. C. Blain and Mrs. G. R. Barker, both of Fort Leavenworth, Kan.; four sons, C. C., F. R. and J. E., of Atlanta, and W. S. Coleman, of East Orange, N. J., survive.

Funeral services will be held at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon at the chapel of Brandon, Bond & Condon with Dr. W. M. Barnett officiating. Members of the Wilson Bible class of Calvary Methodist church will participate in the rites, and burial will be in West View cemetery.

LEIBOWITZ MAY JOIN HAUPTMANN COUNSEL

"Great Mouthpiece" Plans
To Get "the Whole Truth"
From Bruno.

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—(UP)—Samuel Leibowitz, the "great mouthpiece" who has saved 112 men from the electric chair, announced tonight that he was going into Trenton state prison deathhouse to "get the whole truth" from Bruno Richard Hauptmann.

A great criminal lawyer—defender of Al Capone in the lush days of prohibition and chief counsel in the famous Scottsboro cases—Leibowitz said he would join the Hauptmann legal staff if the pale prisoner in Cell No. 9 at Trenton "comes clean" about the Lindbergh baby kidnapping.

He said that as the result of a visit today from Mrs. Hauptmann, she came to him on this holiday when most downtown offices in New York were closed. Leibowitz was open, and for an hour he listened to Mrs. Hauptmann, who talked to him rapidly and earnestly in the knowledge that her husband's 30-day reprieve would expire Saturday and that the shadow of the electric chair again was long and dark across his life.

Then Leibowitz came out, and, in that full-throated voice familiar in every New York courtroom where men go on trial for their lives, said: "Persons of great prominence and standing have sought to enlist my aid in the Hauptmann case. I have just had an extended conference with Mrs. Hauptmann. I have made it clear to her in plain English under what conditions I will consent to be identified with her husband's case."

"I do not propose to enter this case in order to play a game of legal chess to save Bruno from the chair. Any person with the least bit of discernment can place little credence in the fish stories told in Bruno's behalf from the witness stand in the Flemington courtroom. By the same token, there was much produced by the prosecution that smells to high heaven."

"The best advocate that Bruno can retain at this crucial moment is Bruno Richard Hauptmann himself. He must make up his mind to tell the truth and all of it."

"I am going to see him in the death house and he must tell me the whole truth—let the chips fall where they may—or I will not lift a finger in his behalf. The contention that this was a 'one-man job' is sheer nonsense. Perhaps Bruno can supply answers to the perplexing questions in the case. I shall make every endeavor to prevail upon him to do what Governor Hoffman has asked him to do. There lies his only possible salvation from death in the electric chair."

Storm Sewer Project Formally Launched

Atlanta's $2,000,000 storm sewer project was launched formally yesterday when Mayor Key and other city officials participated in the ground-breaking at Fifth and Fowler streets. Reynolds, chairman of council's sewer committee. The city is providing $500,000 of the cost of the undertaking. Staff photo by George Cornett.

Captive Cause of Common Colds Believed To Be Invisible Virus

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—(AP)—The long elusive cause of the common cold has been kept bottled up successfully for 20 months in a test tube at Columbia University.

Dr. A. Raymond Dochez, professor of medicine at Columbia University School of Medicine, announced tonight that this long period of artificial cultivation, completely away from the human body, makes it certain that the cause is an invisible virus.

In the Columbia tube there are no bacteria or other forms of infection visible. But in all the 20 months its liquid contents have retained the power to give a human being, or a chimpanzee, a violent cold. In all that time the invisible cause has lived and reproduced itself on chicken embryo for food.

This week Dr. Dochez is in line with other medical experiments pointing to the same common cold cause, and to a double "cold" as the mechanism of human colds.

In this double complex the invisible virus is the basic cause. Its function is to weaken the respiratory organs. Thus weakened, the organs are attacked by common, visible bacteria, which bring the complications familiar to cold sufferers.

"Until very recently," Dr. Dochez said, speaking at an alumni day meeting, "the true causes of common cold and influenza were unknown. For many years it was believed that the ordinary bacteria found so frequently in the mouth were the cause."

"The fact upon which this belief rests are these. It has been known that anthropoid apes, particularly chimpanzees, suffer in this climate from colds exactly similar to human beings. When chimpanzees were quarantined with extreme care to prevent accidental infection and were then inoculated with the throat washings of a human being with an acute cold after the washings had been freed of all visible bacteria by being passed through a porcelain filter of exceedingly small pore size, the animals contracted colds exactly similar to that of the humans."

"Furthermore by the same process the experimental cold could be passed from one chimpanzee to another. The same type of study was carried out with human volunteers."

"The results of the investigations indicated that colds are caused by a filterable virus."

"In order to be absolutely certain that this view is the correct one it was necessary to grow the virus outside the animal body in a test tube. This presented certain difficulties since it is known that the filterable viruses do not grow in an inanimate medium, but only inside living cells."

"This short account of the common cold can also be exactly applied to the study of influenza. From this disease also a filterable virus can be cultivated in the test tube in chick embryo."

AUTO-TRANSFUSION SAVES MAN'S LIFE

CHICAGO, Feb. 12.—(AP)—A rare operation in which the victim's blood was pumped into his heart was reported today in the Journal of the American Medical Association.

The blood was sponged from the victim's lung cavity, and was then injected into his veins in a manner similar to the usual transfusion.

Two Pittsburgh physicians who described the case for the journal—Dr. Charles M. Watson and Dr. James R. Watson—said it was the first of its kind in medical annals.

The 16-year-old youth whose life they saved was stabbed by another boy during a quarrel in his father's butcher shop in Pittsburgh on November 17, 1934.

Bleeding was so profuse hospital physicians could not at first determine the source of the flow.

Deciding an auto-transfusion was the only means of saving the youth, the doctors started to pump the lost blood out of the lung cavity with a syringe.

The cavity filled up, however, and this method was abandoned in favor of large dry packs, these were used as sponges, and the blood wrung out into a beaker containing 50 cubic centimeters of a 2 per cent solution of sodium citrate, used to prevent clotting.

Seven hundred cubic centimeters of blood were removed in this manner. While the wound was being sewed up, the recovered blood was filtered through several layers of gauze and injected into the victim's arm.

After receiving 200 centimeters the youth began to regain consciousness. This time a donor had been obtained for a regular transfusion, but the patient's condition was considered sufficiently satisfactory that his service was not necessary.

The case was new, the doctors said, in that it involved a wound of the heart. Auto-transfusions in the past were limited to blood from the peritoneal cavity in the abdomen.

DECATUR TO VOTE ON SEWER BONDS

Heavy Ballot Is Expected Tomorrow; Federal Funds
To Be Added.

A heavy vote is expected to be cast tomorrow by residents of Decatur who will decide then whether the city wants to benefit from a federal grant of $141,000 by issuing $80,000 in bonds for civic improvements. Schools, waterworks system and sewers will be enlarged, repaired and renovated with the federal money if Decatur votes in favor of the bonds.

Claude Blount, chairman of the bond campaign committee, pointed out yesterday that an affirmative vote of two-thirds of all who vote, and that this two-thirds must be the majority of those registered to vote, is needed to assure the passage of the bonds. Voters will be carried to the polls by members of the bond campaign committee if they will make appointments by calling Dearborn 0268.

SOCIALIZED MEDICINE IS URGED BY CANADIAN

Noted Doctor Says Physicians Should Be Mobilized
Like Army, Paid by State.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Feb. 12.—(AP)—Socialized medical aid in the United States, highly controversial among physicians, was advocated here today by Dr. Norman Bethune, of Montreal, Canada, in a lecture before the mid-south post-graduate medical assembly.

Dr. Bethune, chief of the division of thoracic surgery at Sacred Heart hospital, also advocated a "horizontal union" of all health workers, including physicians, dentists, nurses, mass-agers, and others on "the same system that John Lewis seeks in labor."

Dr. Bethune said physicians should be mobilized like the army, navy or police, and that the state with free medical service to remove profit motive.

"The average person may pay $100 for an appendectomy—we must charge the rich $10,000 for the same operation because we have hundreds who cannot pay anything," he said.

Earlier, the assembly was told that contrary to a belief "general with both the public and a large section of the medical profession, most of those who recover from meningitis enjoy an absolutely complete recovery."

The speaker, Dr. Josephine B. Neal, clinical professor of neurology at Columbia University, New York, told the assembly that the recovery is not complete in every case, "but in over 90 per cent of the cases the recovery is complete, in contrast to the effects of infectious peritonitis and encephalitis" (sleeping sickness).

For 22 years, Dr. Neal has been in charge of the division of applied therapy of the health department of New York, which has to do with meningitis, paralysis and acute infections of the central nervous system.

Another woman, Miss Emma East-erling, of Vicksburg, Miss., told the assembly that surgical operations are actually more of a shock to people who are afraid of them than to those who go into the operating room calm and with confidence. Miss East-erling is anesthetist and superintendent of nurses at the Vicksburg hospital and clinic.

"Patients going to surgery greatly frightened and fearful of the outcome suffer greater post-operative shock and prove troublesome in the induction of any type of anesthesia," she said.

"Recovery of the patient who goes into the operating room in a fearful and frightened condition is definitely slower than that of the patient who is unafraid."

Raw "hot dogs" and raw milk are "so common causes for obscure fever," Dr. David L. Farley, professor of medicine at the University of Pennsylvania, said.

"Trichinosis is a disease of the muscles which comes from an animal parasite in uncured pork and undulant fever is caused by an organism in impure, unpasteurized milk," he said.

He said undulant fever "is an abortion fever of cattle." The organism, he said, gets into milk, but is killed by pasteurization.

LIQUOR SUSPECT LEADS CROSS-COUNTRY CHASE

City, County and Sheriff's Officers Unite in Capture of Driver.

Police forces of the city, county and sheriff's office united yesterday in a trans-city and cross-country chase to catch a lone liquor suspect.

Deputy Sheriffs S. G. Davies and W. L. Moore "jumped" the suspected car at the corner of Peachtree and Baker streets. The car was a 1929 model, but the driver knew all the tricks. He sped out Ponce de Leon avenue and ran into a maze of traffic near the ball park. The deputies locked bumpers with his car and thought they had their suspect practically in custody, but another car struck the deputies' automobile and broke the bumpers loose.

With traffic clearing up, the fugitive again sped away and a few blocks farther out Ponce de Leon the brake rod on the deputies' car broke while traveling 55 miles an hour. While the driver made frantic efforts to stop the car, his partner spied two city motorcycle police and signaled to them to catch the fugitive.

With sirens shrieking, Officers P. E. Edwards and C. A. Cook took up the chase, which led them to Buckhead, the lone driver striding across red lights and smashing fenders on other cars all the way, according to the police.

At Buckhead, County Officers W. H. Tyler and Claude Webb joined in the chase. Out on the country road, the officers shot the two rear tires of the fugitive's car. But still he sped on.

Miles farther on, the police cornered the quarry in front of Oglethorpe University. The car was found to contain 15 gallons of liquor, according to police, and the driver, who gave his name as Bill Wilson, of a North avenue address, was locked up in Fulton tower with bonds set at $500 for whiskey, $500 for hit-and-run driving and $100 for speeding.

CANDIDATE OFFERS WITHOUT 'TICKET'

Barfield Violates Precedent
by Running for Sheriff
Single-Handed.

Harry Barfield, candidate for sheriff, on the unusual platform of offering his candidacy without a group of assistants, outlined his policy in an address yesterday.

He has no "ticket" system, running single-handed with the declaration that, if elected, he will choose assistants from those competent to perform the work assigned them rather than by selection through political influence.

Of this he says:

In announcing for sheriff I promised the voters of Fulton county I will not appoint any deputy until after I am elected, and then only men who will qualify for each individual position, with the addition of a squad of trained criminal investigators, including a fingerprint expert, without any additional cost to the taxpayers of this county. This has created a lot of requests for my reasons on this point. Along this line I would like to state here and now, I will not trade to any man or woman the promise of a position, in return for work, or influence, either real or personal.

I have great admiration for the 150 men who compose my opponent's ticket. It is undoubtedly the greatest array of councilmen, aldermen, grocers, preachers and political workers ever gathered together in one campaign in Fulton county, and while they may be absolutely the best men in their particular vocations, in my own opinion less than 20 per cent could qualify as police officers, even under competent instruction. I feel that should I pledge a man a job in return for any effort, he would immediately become my partner and not my employee, and irrespective of what type of service he might render, I would be forced to keep him in office because of the consideration that had passed between us.

Pledge of Privilege.
I therefore pledge you, the voter shall have the privilege, between the day of election and the time I take office as your sheriff, to pass upon the references, qualifications and standing in your various communities of all deputies appointed by me. I further wish to state that any man on any one of the three opposing tickets shall have the privilege of making application and standing an equal chance with all others to qualify for the job they now hold or had hoped to hold if the other candidates had been successful.

The "ticket" system is the bane of local politics. A man seeks to become a department head. Along with his own name he submits a list of his prospective deputies. They are his campaign workers. In almost all cases they clip in for campaign expenses. They are selected obviously for political influence first, for competency second.

Going into office a group of this sort makes a clean sweep. Soon he is a man, a woman held over from the old administration, although the ousted workers may have acquired experience that is invaluable to the office and to the public.

Have Bought Jobs.
The candidate not only must give the members of his "ticket" their promised jobs, but must keep them in those jobs because of his moral, his political and often his financial obligations to them. The deputies thus in effect have bought their jobs by work and influence if not by actual money. We see in many an office, therefore, a collection of minor politicians rather than objective and able public servants.

True, it is obviously necessary to establish a record of efficiency and good service, else the department head will find himself accumulating a lot of criticism and dissatisfaction. Sometimes, however, the chief is in hot water because he must maintain in his employ men and women who may not be as good as others not in his personal organization.

Your sheriff's office handles in the neighborhood of a quarter-million dollars cash money per year. The ladies and gentlemen in the office handling and keeping the records of this large sum should be efficient, qualified business people under the direction of an auditor. This I promise you. And as proof that I am capable of picking such people I submit for your investigation my record as the successful owner and operator of a business located at 114 Spring street, N. W., Atlanta, where the books are open for your investigation, and while the assets are not large, the liabilities are none.

HOME LOAN BUSINESS MAY TOTAL $3,000,000

More than $3,000,000 in loan applications is expected by the end of the week at Atlanta's Insured Mortgage Clinic, in the 101 Marietta Street building, it was announced yesterday, when loan applications already had swelled within less than $200,000 of the mark.

The government's part in the loans has been explained as merely insuring payment for loan companies and banks, calling for a low rate of interest. Applications may be made for refinancing existing mortgages, new residential construction or modernization and improvement of homes. The clinic, where applications may be made and the plan of government insured mortgages are explained, is open daily from 9 o'clock in the morning until 6 o'clock at night.

SOKOLSKY WILL SPEAK ON FAR EAST SITUATION

Noted American Journalist To Explain Conditions in Asia Tonight.

George E. Sokolsky, American journalist of international reputation, will discuss the situation in Asia and its importance to the western world at 8:30 o'clock tonight at the Atlanta Woman's Club.

His address, entitled "The Tinder Box of Asia," will be an explanation of existing and future conditions of the far east.

Sponsored by Town Hall Intime, Sokolsky's appearance will attract many Atlantans to the Woman's Club, Clark Howell Sr., editor of The Constitution, is to preside at a forum period following Sokolsky's talk.

Sokolsky has had a distinctive and varied career in journalism since he was graduated by Columbia University in 1917.

His service as political correspondent of the North China Daily News, leading British newspaper in the far east; the Japan Advertiser, an American newspaper in Tokyo; the Philadelphia Public Ledger, the New York Evening Post, the New York World and the London Daily Express has been notable.

Sokolsky, like many a journalist, was bitten with the curiosity bug at an early age. He was born and reared in New York but no sooner had he completed his college education than he went to Russia to "see the revolution."

As editor of a Petrograd paper, Sokolsky saw plenty of the revolution, so much in fact that the Russians bundled him on a train and gratuitously gave him an invitation to get out of their country. That was in 1918.

Since then Sokolsky has resided much of the time in China and Japan, where he gathered material for three books and numerous articles for American magazines and newspapers.

A forum will follow the speech and listeners will meet Sokolsky during a social hour at which Mr. and Mrs. George Ripley Jr. will be host and hostess at the club.

N. C. COLLEGE FIGHTS MENINGITIS SPREAD

RALEIGH, N. C., Feb. 12.—(P)—N. C. State College officials, although expressing confidence there was little danger, took steps against a possible spread of meningitis in the student body today after Paul V. Guzas, a student from New York city, was found to be suffering with the disease.

Guzas was taken ill Sunday, confined to the college infirmary until diagnosed definitely. The fraternity house where he lived was quarantined, although he was known to have contacted few students before his condition became known. He is a senior in high school education.

Hospital authorities said tonight he was recovering—that his case had been classified as of a curable type, and Dr. Paul Neel, his physician, said he was in little danger.

Per Capita Expense Reduction For Education, Shown for Nation

Census Bureau Reports $14.03 Spent Per Person in All Cities With Population More Than 100,000 During 1934.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—(P)—A per capita cut in expenses for education in the nation's larger cities since 1925 was reported today by the Census Bureau.

Lumping all cities of 100,000 population, or over, the bureau reported $14.03 was expended in the fiscal year 1934; $14.46 in 1933 and $14.67 in 1932.

Previously the bureau had released figures on per capita gross debt for the same cities, showing a cut of 72 cents in 1934 from 1933, but a gain of $34.45 from 1926.

The bureau gave no official comment on either set of figures. Experts suggested, however, that education usually feels the budget knife first and is cut hardest.

The total expenditures of the 94 cities in 1934 for education operation and maintenance were $526,864,320. The following table shows how this was divided among various size cities, and the per capita education expenditure in each of the three years:

City	1934	1933	1932
Total 1934	$526,864,320	$531,312,372	$531,312,372
100,000 to 500,000	76,802,372	76,802,372	76,802,372
50,000 to 100,000	134,694,433	134,694,433	134,694,433
10,000 to 50,000	1,985,192	1,985,192	1,985,192
5,000 to 10,000	14,941,532	14,941,532	14,941,532
1,000 to 5,000	14,941,532	14,941,532	14,941,532
Under 1,000	12,321,239	12,321,239	12,321,239

Patterson, N. J.; Newark, N. J.; Yonkers, N. Y., and Rochester, N. Y., the latter two only a cent apart, spent the most per capita in 1934. In 1933, Yonkers led, followed by Newark and Patterson. In 1932, Los Angeles was first; Yonkers, second, and Springfield, Mass., third.

Miami, Fla., spent the least in 1934. The following table shows the per capita expenditures in some of the cities in each of the three years:

City	1934	1933	1932
New York city	$18.73	$19.32	$19.67
Chicago	16.79	17.90	18.45
Los Angeles	16.55	17.40	17.10

COLDS ARE NOW REACHING OUT FOR VICTIMS!

Be Wise—Be Careful—Adopt This Simple Precautionary Measure!

Colds are increasing. In some sections influenza is breaking out. Don't be alarmed, but don't be careless.

A cold is much easier avoided than cured! Do the sensible thing and adopt the ounce of prevention policy. Stay out of crowds as much as you can. Avoid coughers and sneezers. Dress warmly, keep your feet dry and sleep in a well-ventilated room.

Every morning and night take one or two Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine tablets. This will keep the bowels open and combat infection.

Millions know Bromo Quinine as an excellent cold treatment, but not enough know it as an equally excellent preventive.

Learn its efficacy and keep a package handy all winter long as your "safety first" measure. If you have already caught cold there is nothing better you can take than Bromo Quinine. It doesn't merely suppress the cold—it helps drive it out of the system. At the same time, it tones the system and helps fortify against further attack.

For more than forty years, Bromo Quinine has been the largest selling cold tablet in the world. For more than forty years it has been the standby of thousands in treating a cold.

Ask for it by the full name and look for the initials L B Q stamped on every tablet. The cost is small, but the protection is large.

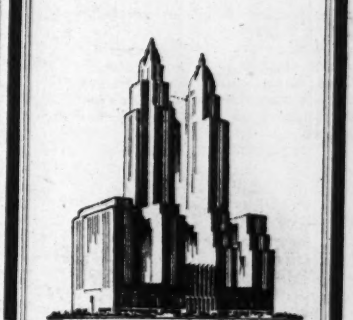

MEXICAN BUSINESSMEN OFFERED NEW PLAN

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 12.—(P)—A blunt statement by President Lazaro Cardenas that "businessmen who feel themselves tired by the social struggle can hand over their industries to the workers of the government," was reported today by the government newspaper El Nacional.

The newspaper published a review of the labor situation by Cardenas, who just left Monterrey after attempting to adjust a labor-capital crisis there. Business leaders of Monterrey held a unique "strike" last week against what they called communistic tendencies of officials and all commerce was suspended for two days.

Referring to "lured" businessmen handing over the industries, the president said "This will be patriotic, while a shutdown is not."

Cardenas warned the employer class against provoking political agitation, asserting "this would bring an armed struggle."

Save $150.00 and get the finest Refrigeration

SEE THESE BEAUTIFULLY STYLED 1936 AIR-CONDITIONED REFRIGERATORS AT THE COOKING SCHOOL AT THE GEORGIA THEATRE. PRICES ARE LOW.

See Miss Ruth Chambers Make Crystal Clear, Taste-Free Ice Cubes in Five Minutes.

See the Ultra-Modern Ice Way Freezer Make Delicious Ice Cream Without Effort in Five Minutes.

The difference in what you need pay for a modern air-conditioned refrigerator of equal cubic feet capacity and other types of refrigeration will make the down payment on an automobile, or buy a new fur coat or a new radio. But most important, you get far superior refrigeration and food protection in an air-conditioned refrigerator.

You expect any kind of refrigerator to keep foods cold—the beautiful 1936 air-conditioned refrigerators do so much more. The air is washed and constantly changed. This clean, moist air flows through the food compartments where it absorbs and carries off all odors several times a minute. The air is kept healthfully humidified, preventing drying out of foods and abolishing the use of covered containers which increase the growth of bacteria.

Because foods keep perfectly much longer in an air-conditioned refrigerator you can take full advantage of special sales, often saving enough to pay the cost of operating your refrigerator. These modern, beautifully styled, air-conditioned ice refrigerators are priced amazingly low. See them today at the cooking school and at our downtown showrooms.

A refrigerator is a major purchase. The following table will help you to decide wisely between various types. To get good refrigeration you must have (1) constant cold (2) proper humidity (3) washed air (4) continuous circulation. Compare a modern air-conditioned refrigerator with any other on these essential points.

	Modern Air-Conditioned Ice Refrigeration	Other Types of Refrigeration
Constant Cold	Yes	_____
Proper Humidity	Yes	_____
Washed Air	Yes	_____
Continuous circulation	Yes	_____
Covered Dishes	No	_____
Plenty of Ice	Yes	_____
Taste-Free Ice Cubes	Yes	_____
Beauty and Style	Yes	_____
Defrosting	No	_____
Mixed For-1 Flavors	No	_____
Drying Out of Food	No	_____
Moving Parts	No	_____
Costly Repairs	No	_____
Noise Vibration	No	_____
High First Cost	No	_____

Now you have your own answer! Any refrigerator will give you cold air but only a modern air-conditioned refrigerator gives you (1) constant cold (2) washed air (3) proper humidity (4) continuous circulation. This is the right kind of refrigeration to protect your family's food and health.

defer closing of its investigation into police department irregularities and the writing of its verdict regarding its findings in a month's probe.

Witnesses have testified that Chief of Police T. O. Sturdivant ordered three returned to Ralph Owens, alleged bootlegger, and introduction of the new machines was regarded as a move to show that the practice was general.

Councilman G. Dan Bridges, chairman of the police committee, said garage operators will report what progress they have made on a check of records for the past four years at tonight's meeting, and that routine matters also will be considered at the session.

There were indications, however, that committee members are chaffing under the long inquiry which has been generally non-productive and feel that the committee should not allow the report of findings to drag over a long period.

Garage officials Tuesday night informed members of the police committee that it might take more than a week to complete a check of all records.

POLICEMAN'S WIFE CAPTURES SUSPECT

Mrs. J. H. Smith Nabs Negro After Chase; Confesses Burglary.

Using her police husband's pistol and employing the effective tactics of an expert officer, Mrs. J. H. Smith, of 206 Candler street, N. E., yesterday captured one of a pair of negro burglar suspects in a two-block chase after she discovered them prowling in her back yard.

Mr. Smith, besides being a policeman, is an auditor, a sportsman and a taxidermist. He is now on leave of absence doing government auditing work. So Mrs. Smith is carrying on the policing activities of the family.

Mrs. Smith said a number of homes in the Inman Park section had been burglarized, lately and her husband's backyard taxidermy workshop had been rifled twice during the past two months, so she was on the lookout for suspicious characters.

The negro captured by Mrs. Smith gave his name as Alvie Williams, 18, of 839 Houston street. Detectives said he later admitted robbing the home of Mrs. K. A. Eaton, of 415 Euclid terrace, shortly before entering the Smith yard.

Searching for stolen goods and the suspect's partner, Detectives Leo Nalik and J. J. Chester said they found part of the property in the restaurant of Mike Slanides, 40, at 290 Auburn avenue, N. E. Slanides was arrested on suspicion of receiving stolen goods.

Continuing their search to the second story of the place, the detectives found a gallon of whisky and arrested two negro women, Laura Perryman and Mattie Echols, on charges of possession of whisky.

Mrs. Smith turned her captive over to police, who locked him up on suspicion of burglary.

FIGURES SHOW LOW CITY INDEBTEDNESS

Atlanta Per Capita Public Debt in 1934 One of Smallest in Nation.

Only four major cities of the United States had a lower per capita public indebtedness for 1934 than did Atlanta, according to statistics released from Washington yesterday by Director William L. Austin, Bureau of Census, Department of Commerce.

Atlanta's outstanding per capita debt for 1934 was $35.51 as against $58.78 for 1933 and $57.34 for 1932. A total of $46.07 was for general departments and municipal services enterprises, while $9.44 of the 1934 figure was for public enterprises and investments.

Washington, D. C., had the lowest per capita public debt of any city listed with only 21 cents; Port Wayne and Evansville, Ind., had $50.15 and $43.14, respectively, for 1934; while Spokane, Wash., had $37.65 and Peoria, Ill., had $49.63 for the same year. A total of 94 municipalities of the nation having a population of 100,000 or over were studied.

Further perusal of the reports showed that Atlanta expended $2,671,975 for operation and maintenance of schools, which cost the people $9.59 per capita and represented 36.2 per cent of funds expended for all departments.

The latter figure, however, did not carry the interest and sinking funds on outstanding school bonds.

ALTERING OF MINUTES BRANDED AS 'POLITICS'

Education Board President Calls Record Change Dangerous Precedent.

Branding the change in 1935 minutes of the Atlanta board of education, which the board ordered Tuesday, as "apparently politically expedient" but a dangerous precedent, board President Ernest J. Brewer yesterday announced he is considering seriously a demand for a special meeting to rescind the action.

The specific matter to which Brewer referred was the vote of the board in ordering that the names of five members of the 1935 board, who withdrew from a special meeting, be inserted in minutes of November last year. The five left a session, breaking a quorum and thus prevented a vote during a row over retention of architects to prepare plans on the $1,000,000 school building program, which was to have been undertaken co-operatively by the board and WPA. Commissioners Brewer, Noland, Lowman and Matthews and former Commissioner George W. Powell were the ones who withdrew from the meeting.

Because of the delay in selection of architects, much of the work has never yet been started.

Text of the Brewer statement follows:

"After receiving numerous calls today from former members of the board of education, I feel inclined to request a call meeting of the board for the purpose of passing on the legality of changes in the minutes involving the membership of a previous year. It is very evident that this is a dangerous, but apparently politically expedient, thing to do. I desire to protect those having served on the board in previous years, for if this practice is not stopped any politically-minded board majority might at any time change the minutes of the board going back for a number of years. The minutes of the board are a permanent record and should not be subject to political whims.

"It is my opinion that a meeting called for this purpose would accomplish nothing but it is too serious for me to pass over lightly. One thing is certain, however, whether or not the board takes any action in this connection the thinking people of this city will recognize the danger and be governed accordingly at the proper time.

"I am not interested in seeing that the recommendations I made to the board upon my retirement as president are preserved in the minutes for it is a fact that this information reached the citizens of Atlanta and is accomplishing its purpose. The major portion of this statement was covered and concurred in in an editorial of The Atlanta Constitution. This statement covered, among other things, the practice of nepotism and involving the Parent-Teacher Association in political entanglements. I am going to continue my fight to keep board members from padding the pay roll with relatives and will do everything possible to prevent board members from serving in an official capacity in the Parent-Teacher Association which will allow this effective and indispensable organization to continue its well founded policy of working for the betterment of the children and remain free from political alliances or entanglements."

CAPITOL FUND ORDER BRINGS OPEN WARFARE

ing that the money is available whenever the treasurer wants it.

Governor Talmadge, who is considered on friendly terms with all of the officials involved in the tangle, will return tonight from the north. He spoke Tuesday night at Springfield, Ill., and left for Atlanta last night, icy roads preventing his scheduled speech at Madisonville, Ky. There was much speculation at the capital as to what the Governor would do about the situation.

It was generally understood that the withholding of the fees was caused by the fact that the state is operating without a general appropriations act and Governor Talmadge has not received by what method he plans to carry on the functions of government.

It was believed in some quarters that officials holding fees were doing so by the direction of the Governor.

Without Paid $4,000.

Chairman Wilhoit in a statement issued before receiving the Hamilton letter pointed out that more than $4,000 had been paid into the treasury by his commission. Yesterday the treasurer said that he "inadvertently" had failed to acknowledge this to Mr. Wilhoit.

The treasurer yesterday made public his letter to the officials. It follows:

"The books and records of the Treasury Department reflect no remittances from you for any collections of state monies since January 1, 1935. In order that you may be governed by the law applying to this procedure, I respectfully call your attention to the following sections:

"Section 32-3401 of the code of 1933: 'It shall be the duty of every department, commission, bureau and other branch or agency of the government of this state, and of every official head of every department, commission, bureau and other branch or agency of the government of this state created by statute, the support and maintenance of which is provided for by the law applying to this procedure, to collect and forthwith pay into the treasury all monies, fees, commissions, penalties or other charges which they are authorized by law to collect for the support and maintenance of such departments, commission, bureau or other agency of the state government.'

Section 92-9915 says: Should the official head of any department, commission, bureau or other branch or agency of the state government, required by 92-36 to collect and pay into the state treasury all monies, fees, etc., they are authorized by law to collect for the support of such department, commission, bureau, etc., to withhold payment, until they are paid quarterly during the full season which is January, February and March. These are very lean months in the naval stores business. The three months will not amount to an average month. Last year I paid these amounts into the treasury about April as they were not all collected for these three months before April.

"For January, 1936, I have collected to date $33.97 in fees. I will collect some more of the January fees during February. Of the $33.97 already collected, $1.02 belongs to the state. To cover this 'stupendous' amount of $1.02 of state funds withheld from the state treasury by my department, according to the statement appearing in the newspapers by Brother Hamilton, the state is secured by a $5,000 surety bond.

"In addition to this, I have all of these 'funds' in good banks together with a few dollars besides. I expect to pay this department this year a big dividend, but if Brother Hamilton's treasury department is about to close down, or up, on account of these 'funds' which I am withholding, I will gladly send them over to him after I have finished collecting the balance of the January, 1936, fees."

ICY ROADS PREVENT MADISONVILLE TRIP

MADISONVILLE, Ky., Feb. 12.—(AP)—Governor Talmadge, of Georgia, who was scheduled to speak here tonight before members of the First Voters' League, canceled his engagement when icy roads prevented him from driving here from Evansville, Indiana.

By a telephone conversation with former Governor Ruby Laffoon, who was to entertain him here, the Georgia Governor, militant foe of the New Deal, said he had been advised against making the trip.

Laffoon said Governor Talmadge was planning to return to Atlanta by train tonight from Evansville.

BIRTHDAY OF LINCOLN IS WIDELY OBSERVED

Abraham Lincoln lived vividly again Wednesday in the thoughts of his countrymen.

Throughout the land his career evoked eulogies in city, hamlet and farmhouse as the 127th anniversary of his birth in a Kentucky log cabin was celebrated.

In Washington, in his home town and in almost every other spot where his earthly foot had trod, memorial services attracted thousands of pilgrims.

President Roosevelt, on behalf of his fellow citizens, journeyed to the nation's capital to stand with bowed head as his wreath was laid at the foot of the "Rail Splitter" statue. He sent another wreath to Lincoln's tomb.

Political "Eulogies."

Policies mixed with eulogy did not dilute the praise as both republicans and democrats voiced claims that the nation's capital had approved their divergent courses. Midwestern republican headquarters announced that 3,500 meetings over the land honored their first President and brought his inspiration in the present campaign.

Over a national network, former President Herbert Hoover in a Lincoln Day address from Portland, Ore., spoke of "The Confused State of the Nation" under the Roosevelt administration. Senator Arthur Vandenberg, of Michigan, frequently rated a G. O. P. presidential nomination possibility, addressed the 50th Lincoln Day dinner of the National Republican Club of New York. Sen. Charles McNary, of Delaware, at Wilmington, called for a militant campaign to return the nation to the ideals of Lincoln and rescue it from autocracy.

At Madisonville, Ky., Governor Eugene Talmadge, who voiced the wish at Springfield, Ill., Tuesday that the country had a "man like Lincoln" for president now, spoke, again, of the anti-New Dealer from Georgia set a precedent by becoming the first southern governor to carry a wreath to Lincoln's tomb at Springfield.

Urges Preparation.

In the afternoon services there, National Commander Ray Murphy, of the American Legion, declared that Lincoln, if alive today, would be more concerned over threats of war than economic problems. The veterans leader urged immediate preparation to prevent America from being drawn into a world war.

The anniversary brought a heavy volume of Lincoln anecdotes and recollections. At Springfield, Ill., Dr. Benjamin P. Thomas, secretary of the Abraham Lincoln Association, said the Union leader typified the American humor of his times.

At Cleveland, Ohio, Historian Arthur C. Cole said new documentary evidence gave increasing support to a belief that "Honest Abe" was re-elected in 1864 by a "miraculous combination of events."

A Louisville, Ky., woman, Mrs. James L. Meredith, won attention by displaying an old photograph she said Lincoln's father had given a neighbor for saving young "Abe" from drowning.

FRANCE WARNS NAZIS ON RHINELAND ARMING

PARIS, Feb. 12.—(AP)—Foreign Minister Pierre-Etienne Flandin warned today that France would refuse to accept any excuse for an armed German occupation of the demilitarized Rhineland.

The minister, speaking to the foreign affairs committee of the chamber of deputies, asserted that if Germany should fortify the Rhineland, France would at once invoke the Locarno treaty.

Asserting 75 per cent of Nebraska's republicans are for Barton, Green, of Lincoln, former chairman of the Lancaster county republican central committee, said he would form a committee to circulate petitions. Nebraska law requires the signatures of 100 persons in each of five congressional districts to put a candidate on the ballot.

SCHOOL HOUSE ANNEX IS DESTROYED BY FIRE

GREENWOOD, S. C., Feb. 12.—(AP)—Fire tonight destroyed the annex to the main building of the Bailey Military Academy, a prep school here.

There was no estimate of the damage. The mess hall, class rooms and post exchange were gutted by the flames, but the barracks were saved.

The blaze broke out in the ceiling of the mess hall about 5:15 p. m., and spread rapidly. It was not brought under control until several hours later.

School officials said classes would not be interrupted.

of the boxoffice, a negro bandit held up the Ashby Street theater, negro motion picture house at 925 West Hunter street, and escaped with $50 in cash at about 6:30 o'clock last night.

Aletha Carlton, negro, the cashier, told Detectives P. E. Jones and J. T. Thiel that the armed bandit approached her just as she stepped into the boxoffice.

She resisted, and when he pushed her to the floor, she pressed an emergency bell to summon J. H. Tucker, negro, manager, who arrived as the bandit fled.

Two Persons Injured In California Storm

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 12.—(AP)—Tornadoes that swept sections of outlying Long Beach and Alhambra tonight and injured at least two persons, climaxed a day of damaging wintry gales along the length of the Pacific coast.

More than a dozen houses were unroofed in Long Beach and Alhambra and hundreds of trees were uprooted.

Dorothy Thompson, 11, suffered fractures of both legs when struck by flying timbers in Long Beach.

Hermann Connert, also of Long Beach, was injured when the wind threw him against the collapsing walls of his house.

BOGUS MONEY RING DISCOVERED IN PRISON

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Feb. 12.—(AP)—The manufacture and circulation of counterfeit coins within Almore state prison farm by inmates who were members of a bogus money ring was revealed here today by United States secret service agents.

Robert E. Perry, in charge of the Birmingham secret service office, said the prisoners had been using the spurious coins for gambling and for making purchases at the prison commissary for more than a year.

Perry said approximately $15 in bogus half dollars, quarters and nickels was found in the prison and about 800 more were located in communities near the prison.

League Says Oil Ban No Good Without U. S.

GENEVA, Feb. 12.—(AP)—An oil sanction against Italy, a committee of experts reported to the League of Nations tonight, "would be effective" if the United States limits its exports to the warring nation to the normal level prior to 1935.

In its official report after weeks of deliberation, the committee expressed the opinion that if the embargo were universally applied and under conditions prevailing now, it would become effective within about three or four and one-half weeks.

But, the experts reported, if the sanction is imposed by League states alone the only effect it would have on Italy "would be to render the purchase of petroleum more difficult and expensive."

Thus what attitude the congress of the United States takes in neutrality legislation, involving oil shipments, presumably will be a deciding factor in whether the League adds oil to the list of sanctions now in force against the member nation it has declared to be an aggressor.

(Inspired Italian sources have repeatedly warned that an oil sanction would mean a blockade and a blockade would mean a European war.)

Covering the possibility of substitutes being used for oil, the committee said the embargo would be strengthened if it were extended to cover industrial alcohol and benzol.

ENTHUSIASM GROWS AT COOKING SCHOOL

to know that the more economical cuts have a food value equal to those which are higher in price. Because they contain more muscular tissue, they require a different, but not more difficult, cooking method than that used for the higher priced cuts.

"Ground meats, for which the economical cuts are used, are quickly cooked because the grinding has broken up the connective tissue. Ground meats may be used in many delicious dishes."

Delights at Low Cost.
Many ways of preparing the inexpensive cuts are explained and demonstrated by Miss Chambers. Marvellously tasty dishes may be easily prepared at small cost through her magic methods.

Atlanta women who have attended the first two sessions of the four-day program of "Foods on Parade" will testify to the fact that Miss Chambers' lectures and demonstrations make good cooking possible with an economy of time, effort and money.

The thousands of women who have waited every seat during yesterday and Tuesday morning's sessions attest also to Miss Chambers' charming manner of presenting her demonstrations.

All Made Easy.
When the most expensive meat cuts are made into the most delicious examples of culinary art, the housewife has achieved the seemingly impossible. But Miss Chambers makes it all as easy as the simplest dish in her clear and understandable lectures and demonstrations.

Vying with the cooking classes for the favor of Atlanta women is the gorgeous fashion show which is presented each morning immediately preceding the classes. With 25 charming models expertly displaying the fashion forecasts for spring and summer, the presentation is highly entertaining and informative.

Success of the fashion show is due largely to Gaylard's, designers of women's wearing apparel; Connie's Shoe Store and Mackey's Beauty Parlors.

These firms present a parade of the most promising styles for the coming season in dresses, coat suits, frocks, gowns, footwear and accessories.

Gaylard's New York and Atlanta display rooms have conspired to give Atlanta women an authentic and complete preview of dress styles for spring and summer.

Connie's has done the same with footwear, presenting several new cuts, colors and shades.

Miss Ruth Chambers Inspects Modern Kitchen Cabinet

Miss Ruth Chambers, noted culinary expert, who is conducting "Foods on Parade," The Constitution's popular annual cooking school, is shown above inspecting a modern kitchen cabinet offered by Duffee-Freeman Furniture Company. The roomy cabinet is filled with the choice products of local and national firms whose co-operation is making "Foods on Parade" the supreme cooking school of the year. Staff photo.

their accomplished artists to create coiffure arrangements for the models according to their respective types, just as they always do for their clients.

Miss Chambers says that she finds natural gas product of the Atlanta Gas Light Company, and the Roper ranges, distributed by the company, filling every expectation as the best means of cooking.

Ice Refrigeration.
It is no recent discovery of Miss Chambers', either, that natural ice refrigeration, supplied in the modern air-conditioned refrigerators, gives the best results in proper humidity, even circulation of cold temperatures and clean, washed air.

Atlanta Ice Dealers have supplied Miss Chambers with air-conditioned ice refrigerators for "Foods on Parade."

French brand coffee and Foremost milk, distributed by Piggly Wiggly Stores of Atlanta, are found on the list of selected products in "Foods on Parade."

Duffee-Freeman Furniture Company presents examples of choice household furnishings, with particular reference to dining room and living room arrangements.

Weaver aluminum and Pyrex ware, sold by King Hardware Company, make good cooking better, according to Miss Chambers.

Cleaning as Aid.
Howard's Cleaners takes its place as an aid to better table fare by the hint that money may be saved on expert cleaning and the difference applied to the table.

Libby's canned goods, the feature offering of Quality Service Stores, help Miss Chambers show how prepared foods may be worked into a "home-cooked" meal.

Lane's Drug Stores' "Chemm," the popular food-drink, is prepared in Miss Chambers' demonstrations because of its quick energy-giving and nutritious quality.

Hames, Inc., presents the latest "styles" in radios and electric players as an addition to home furnishings and entertainment.

Foremost milk, the well-known product of Foremost Dairies, Inc., is on the list of food products recommended by Miss Chambers because of its richness and undeviating purity resulting from the efficient electropure process.

Beauty in Cars.
Beauty is found at Beaudry's. In the form of the latest models of Ford cars. Attractive women have found the efficiency and economical operation of Ford cars is usually left to the consideration of men, but no one can fail to appreciate the beauty and style of the new models.

Others participating in the highly successful fashion show and cooking school are McCormick & Company, makers of Bee Brand extracts and spices; American Sugar Refining Company, makers of Domino sugar; the Atlanta Coca-Cola Bottling Company, Ballant & Ballard, manufacturers of Ballard's oven ready flour; Clorox Chemical Company; Durkee's Famous Foods, General Foods, Inc., makers of Bakers coconut; H. J. Heinz Company, manufacturers of Heinz assorted soups; John F. Jelke Company, makers of Good Luck margarine; the Kellogg Company, manufacturers of Kellogg's all-bran; Knox Gelatine Company.

Lever Brothers Company, makers of Lux flakes, Lux and Lifebuoy soaps and Rinsol; Loose-Wiles Company, makers of Krispy crackers; National Biscuit Company, manufacturers of shredded wheat; Quaker Oats Company, makers of Aunt Jemima pancake and buckwheat flour; Welch Grapefruit Company and Weinstock's Flower Shop.

All Co-operative.
To bring Atlanta women entertainment and information on the latest development in their lines, these merchants have co-operated with the four-day presentation of "Foods on Parade."

If you attended "Foods on Parade" yesterday morning and Tuesday morning, we are certain you will be present during the remaining two sessions this morning and tomorrow morning.

Remember: Doors open at the Georgia theatre at 8 o'clock, the fashion show at 8:40 o'clock and the cooking school classes from 9 until 10:45 o'clock.

Many Win Gifts.
Again yesterday morning, 25 bountiful baskets of food and other gifts were presented to fortunate members of the audience in a drawing which followed the lecture and demonstration of "Foods on Parade."

The valuable gift baskets were filled with French brand coffee, Kellogg's bran, Baker's coconut, Krispy crackers, Shredded Wheat, Durkee's salad dressing, Domino sugar, Oven Ready biscuits, Clorox, Heinz soup, Good Luck margarine, Knox Jell, Lux flakes, Lux soap, Rinsol, Lifebuoy soap, Aunt Jemima flour, Foremost milk, McCormick's Bee Brand extracts

BIG RESPONSE NOTED TO U. S. COTTON SALES

More Than 250,000 Bids Already Received on Government Pool.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 12.—(AP)—Bids for more than a quarter of a million bales of cotton were received by the government today on the recent announcement that the cotton pool was planning to sell 50,000 bales of its holdings.

More than half of the cotton firms in the United States competed for the staple as 103 separate offers were received by the government agency.

With Oscar Johnston, head of the pool supervising and leading cotton shippers and merchants of New Orleans in attendance, bids were opened in the offices of the American Cotton Co-operative Association at noon.

Ranging from an offer for two bales, from the government's stock of approximately 900,000 bales remaining from the 1933 cotton pool to one bid for 15,000 bales from a large Memphis firm, the offers amounted to 261,000 bales.

While Mr. Johnston had announced that only 5,000 bales would be allotted to any one firm, many of the bids were for amounts far in excess of that figure.

Mr. Johnston said no analysis of the prices offered today or the quality of cotton most eagerly sought by merchants would be available until Thursday at the earliest.

DRESSMAKERS' STRIKE POSTPONED FOR WEEK

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—(AP)—Mayor F. H. LaGuardia, busy as a mediator in the threatened New York strike, announced tonight that all parties in dispute over garment trade conditions had agreed that no strike call will be issued for 105,000 garment workers the rest of this week.

A strike tentatively had been set for Thursday.

The further postponement was made possible by an agreement between the Affiliated Dress Manufacturers' Association and the International Ladies' Garment Workers Union.

About 31,000 workers are affected directly.

ELIO RESIGNS POST AS BOLIVIAN MINISTER

LA PAZ, Bolivia, Feb. 12.—(AP)—Newspapers reported today that Thomas Luis Tejada Sorzano, minister, had resigned.

The private secretary to President Jose Luis Tejada Sorzano, however, said he had not received Elio's resignation.

Foreign Minister Elio took office in September, 1935, after President Tejada Sorzano ordered a new cabinet to replace the ministers who resigned in August. Elio previously held the same post and participated in negotiations which ended the Bolivian-Paraguayan Chaco conflict.

Hit by Epidemic of Meningitis, Training Ship Receives Medical Aid

BALBOA, CANAL ZONE, Feb. 12.—(AP)—The training ship California State, toward which the destroyer Tattall was speeding with doctors and meningitis serum, reported tonight it had obtained some serum from the Grace liner Santa Paula last night.

The message from the California State, whose captain, R. C. Dwyer, California, reported death from meningitis and another case among 70 cadets and 23 crew members, said there was "no cause for alarm."

The training ship, however, asked the Tattall to continue its 1,000-mile dash from Balboa, which was expected to be completed early Thursday.

The message requested the Tattall's doctor and his assistants to prepare to go aboard the California State, saying conditions permitted it.

It was learned there was one doctor aboard the California State, but there were no nurses.

The training ship commander reported to the radio station today the second patient had improved and was not developing further signs of the disease.

The ship's executives were feeling "considerably eased," the captain declared, and no further cases had been discovered.

Aboard the Tattall are three doctors—United States Army Captain H. B. Skinner, Dr. W. R. Davis and Dr. Kenneth Courtney—four male orderlies and four men from the army hospital corps.

Colonel Edgar King, superintendent of the G. G. G. hospital, sent all available serum to the training ship and made plans to replenish the supply by plane.

The California State, official training vessel of the state nautical school, sailed from San Francisco January 31 on its annual practice cruise and was heading toward Balboa when the outbreak of illness was reported.

S. C. LAWMAKERS MOVE TO RECLAIM AAA TAXES

COLUMBIA, S. C., Feb. 12.—(AP)—The state legislature initiated steps to enact a proposal of Governor Olin Johnston for a state levy to "reclaim federal processing taxes for the people, who paid them" today after rejecting his $3 auto tag proposal in favor of another license reduction bill.

Johnston's advocacy in a special message of a 75 per cent levy on processing taxes refunded to corporations was followed by an announcement of Senators Thurmond, of Edgefield, and Nicholson, of Greenwood, that they were drafting a bill embodying the suggestion and a statement of Chairman Neville Bennett that the ways and means committee would "consider the tax carefully."

The Governor said the levy, unofficially estimated to yield $3,500,000, could be used to suspend half the state property levy for a year, purchase free textbooks for common schools, and launch a state social security program.

Atlanta, Trying To Cut Fatalities, Will Benefit by Expanded Program

Atlanta, as one of the cities of the United States participating in a five-year campaign to cut traffic accident fatalities 25 per cent by the end of 1940, will benefit by a greatly expanded public safety program. The National Safety Council, sponsors of the national drive, advised The Constitution Safety Council yesterday.

Atlanta's annual accident fatality list is growing year by year, and every possible means must be employed to combat the growing menace.

Principal additions to the national council's present activities in the field of accident prevention are:

"1. The placing of eight field men in various parts of the United States to assist state and community officials and organizations in their efforts to reduce traffic accidents."

"2. The preparation of a series of booklets, written in popular style, for nationwide distribution. These pamphlets will tell how many states, counties and cities have successfully attacked their traffic problems along engineering, educational and enforcement lines and how others can pattern their activities after these successful methods."

"3. A vastly improved service to newspapers, which have already given such valuable service to the cause of safety."

"4. Substantial co-operation with the General Federation of Women's Clubs, the National Congress of Parents and Teachers and the International Association of Chiefs of Police."

This expanded program announced by the national council should go a long way toward making the public conscious of the necessity of safety. And the extended service makes it possible for the council to get into the field and give concrete help in many areas where it is so badly needed. This service is made possible by a generous grant from the au-

INTANGIBLES PROPOSAL REPORTED ADVERSELY

Classification for Taxing Purposes Voted Down by City Committee.

Classification of intangible properties for taxing purposes was adversely reported yesterday by the city tax committee and tax assessors were instructed to make their own evaluations as they always did prior to 1935.

Taking the position that the city should not attempt to classify any properties, the committee unanimously voted to file an adverse report Monday in council on a proposal by Councilman J. Frank Beck to set up a schedule of valuations.

The Beck measure provided for acceptance of cash money at 5 per cent of its value, stocks and bonds at 15 per cent and mortgage notes and other loan instruments at 5 per cent of their value. The same classification was in effect last year.

Councilman Max M. Cahn, chairman of the tax committee, makes the following salient points in commenting on the problem presented by intangibles:

"1. Tax assessors or the city can not classify any properties for taxing purposes because of state laws providing that all properties shall be taxed uniformly."

"2. The city has never taken intangibles, tangibles at full valuation, and will not do so in the future."

"3. Assessors have no intention of taking intangibles at 100 per cent."

"4. Complaints regarding assessments don't come from taxpayers who file their returns voluntarily if they are accepted, but from those taxpayers whose properties are forfeited out."

"5. Assessors are anxious to see that property owners are all assessed fairly and equitably for both tangible and intangible properties."

Joe C. Little, senior tax assessor, while not committing himself to any program, announced during the discussion that the only fair basis of taking intangibles is on the income from them."

Beck attended the meeting and insisted that the tax committee establish a policy for intangible assessment, but the committee declined to take any action.

Thelma Todd's Photo Offered In Next Sunday's Constitution

Photo of the late Thelma Todd is offered next Sunday, February 16, in The Constitution's Screen and Radio Magazine. When the newspapers first flashed the report of Thelma Todd's mysterious death the studio supplying The Atlanta Constitution with movie stars' pictures was availed with requests from movie fans to provide a memorial photograph of the New England school teacher who became a movie star.

Apparently sentiment plays a great part in the hearts of the movie fans. They didn't want to forget Thelma Todd, because she was instrumental in bringing them so many laughs for years. Therefore, The Constitution is delighted to be able to offer its readers a memorial photograph of the late Thelma Todd, 8x10 inches in size, linen-like finish. The photo of Thelma Todd is one of eight different pictures to be offered during February. There are two pictures to be offered next Sunday. The other for February 16 is George Raft.

You can start your own private movie star photo album very economically. A coupon in Screen and Radio weekly of The Sunday Constitution is appearing each week. See the offer, cut it out and save it in accordance with the terms of the offer. This is one of the popular features of The Sunday Constitution.

Friendly Counsel

By CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

Most of us are in such a rush these days that we haven't time to think and some of us can't think through an subject even when we have time on our hands. So, it does us good occasionally to hear a thoughtful man philosophize on life, love and letters.

I had this experience recently with an oldish man who lies in bed crippled with arthritis. He was running a parallel between divorce and war, commenting that the same human weaknesses were directly responsible for nations fighting each other and men and women divorcing each other.

Said he: "Nations make war because they believe their rights are threatened, because they want to rid themselves of annoying and irritating problems, because they want to expand and enrich themselves. Men and women divorce one another for similar reasons. But the war cost more than they come to and succeeding generations foot the bills. Nine times out of ten divorces fail utterly to accomplish what the couple intended and the worst injustice is worked on innocent children of the divorced pair."

"There is just one way for America to stay out of war or for any other nation to stay out. There is just one way to stop this rising tide of divorce that sweeps over our country: it is a return to the philosophy of a wise man who taught that nobody ever got much satisfaction in fighting; for his rights and nobody else was happy until he had accepted and practiced the lessons of forgiveness."

Incidentally, this same wise man recognized the right of a man or woman to separate from an unfaithful partner. He said categorically that infidelity was cause for divorce. But he didn't recognize any other. The churches that carry his name have run far ahead of him with one exception. The Catholic church admits the right of a husband or wife to separate from an unfaithful partner but does not admit the right of either to remarry so long as the original partner is alive.

Politicians, social workers, even school clerks and leaders of thought in America are all up and over the multiplication of divorce. Yet look at the nostrums they propose as cure-alls: "Let's have uniform divorce laws in all the states." "Let's educate the young people in all phases of married life so they won't walk blindfolded into ready-made traps." "Let's encourage the young people to try out marriage before they put their names on the dotted lines, before they have babies to complicate matters." As if any of these nostrums would stay the feet of a couple of young animals in a fury with one another! For the slightest reason the courts will divorce them and increasingly it is true that the church will remarry them time and time again to new partners.

Society which once frowned on divorced persons, cut them out of social registers, left them out of invitation lists, looked upon them, if not as actual outcasts, at least as being without the pale of propriety, takes no notice of a divorce decree these days. "Let's encourage the young people to try out marriage before they put their names on the dotted lines, before they have babies to complicate matters." As if any of these nostrums would stay the feet of a couple of young animals in a fury with one another! For the slightest reason the courts will divorce them and increasingly it is true that the church will remarry them time and time again to new partners.

Ultimately nations and individuals are after the same thing: happiness in the shape of peace and prosperity. When they all understand that war won't bring it to nations nor divorce to individuals, unless there is something of the fight a more righteous cause than incompatibility, and the ill-mannered and tempers that grow out of it, they will stop the war and before they march up the hill to the arsenals and the divorce courts.

CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

On the Air Today

ED WYNN IS BACK—The comedy of Ed Wynn will again be heard today on the CBS network heard over WGST at 8:30 o'clock tonight.

Mr. Wynn will portray a new character in this series, that of the perpetually astounded Lemuel Gulliver, of Dean Swift's "Gulliver's Travels." Ed has shown great enthusiasm in creating his new character, and he feels he is bringing not only an original role to radio, but one which will offer him unlimited opportunity for his hair-brained comedy.

OLYMPIC GAMES—A resume of the scores and winners of Olympic competition in figure skating and other events will be broadcast from Garmisch, Germany, and heard over WGST at 9:45 this morning.

THE CARAVAN—The somewhat exotic looking Deane Janis will appear with Walter O'Keefe and Glen Gray's Casa Loma orchestra on the Caravan program heard over WGST at 8 o'clock tonight.

The mad antics of O'Keefe will be subdued some by the singing of Miss Janis while the Casa Loma band plays "Broomstick" and "Ducky Stevedore." Kenny Sargent will offer "Don't Say a Word, Just Dance."

AIR TALK—An interesting talk will be given at the Junior Chamber of Commerce luncheon by Tex Rankin heard over WATL at 12:45 noon today.

Mr. Rankin, who is from Portland, Oregon, will be introduced by Fain Peek, executive secretary of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, and will discuss the advancement in aviation facilities to be made here. Mr. Peek relates that the discussion should be both entertaining and instructive.

7. To be fair to other drivers in all respects and to refrain from reckless driving.

MAN MARKS 70TH YEAR WITH CAROLINA FIRM

CHARLESTON, S. C., Feb. 12.—(P)—Henry F. Welch went to work today as usual. He had to be reminded that it was the 70th anniversary of his connection with his present firm. Welch, 84, started out at $3.33 a month with William Bird and Co., here 75 years ago. He now is chairman of the board. He became a partner in 1878 and was president until a few years ago.

Culbertson on Contract

By ELY CULBERTSON.

World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst.

(Mr. Culbertson is acting as referee and reported for a "grudge" bridge game. By general agreement he fines the players for their errors according to degree of stupidity: Class A errors cost them $1; Class B $2.50; Class C $5; Class D $10. This is the third hand in the series.)

"You're both vulnerable now," I pointed out to the players. "Watch your bidding. I'm going to be pretty severe with a rotten vulnerable bid." I was beginning to enjoy my omnipotent job. For years I, in common with most bridge players, had dreamed blissfully of meeting out punishment to partners, and while it is true that this punishment usually took the soul-satisfying form of boiling in oil, the less sadiatic substitute of money fines was at least partial fulfillment. This was the next hand.

South, dealer. Both sides vulnerable.

The bidding:
SOUTH WEST NORTH EAST
Pass Pass Pass 1 Sp.
Pass 2 DL Pass 2 N.T.
Pass 3 N.T. (final bid)

South opened the eight of clubs, a fine move. The trick. The ace and a small diamond then were played. North holding up his king for some ridiculous reason. A third round put king at the top. The diamond was successful, and two more rounds of diamonds were played. South, to avoid a throw-in play, discarded down to two hearts, two clubs, and one spade. But a club lead from dummy put him on lead and he had the hope of choice of setting up, declaring king of spades or leading a heart, which would give dummy two heart tricks. The contract was made with ease.

"Well, gentlemen," I began, figuratively rubbing my hands, "there is always the kitty gets only one point. We'll begin with East. Your play of the hand was terrible! Five dollars, please!"

"But, made the contract!" protested East.

"You did," I agreed, "and for a reason that will cost Mr. North $5! At this point North let out a howl. 'What could I do?' he demanded.

"Let's start with declarer's play. An estimate of necessary tricks would indicate that four diamonds and one club trick must be won to fulfill the contract. The five could be made up in different ways: Three hearts and one in each black suit; or two spades, two hearts and one club; or even two clubs, two hearts and one spade. But East sacrificed all three possibilities by promptly riding his hand of entries. He should have led the spade at the second trick and if the ace held off, attempted to cash an other spade. He then should have taken the heart finesse. The diamond was always could be established and reached with heart entries. There was no hurry about that!"

"But east threw the contract away after North promptly threw it back. There was no reason to hold off the second diamond lead. The king should have won and the ace of spades been held down. After that the second diamond would have locked the dummy on lead. If declarer had a sure club or heart entry the defenders' position would be hopeless. North should have realized this and played for the one chance."

"Pay up, you dubs!" said South and West in perfect unison.

TODAY'S QUESTIONS.
Question: What is the correct opening bid, first hand, vulnerable, on the following hand: Spades A K 5 2 3 2 2, diamonds K 3 2, clubs 4 3 2 2.
Answer: The hand is too weak in playing tricks to open, in spite of the two and a half honor tricks.

NANCY PAGE

Which of These Embroidery Stitches Do You Choose?

By FLORENCE La GANKE.

Mrs. Lacey had been teaching her daughters to be expert needlewomen. The girls had been so proud of their work that they had asked whether they might have a little exhibition some Saturday afternoon. This was agreed upon. As a result the neighborhood children wanted to know whether Mrs. Lacey would teach them too. She said she would and immediately arrangements were made for a class to meet at 1 o'clock on Saturday afternoon during the last winter months. Mrs. Lacey went into a conference with Nancy and together they worked out a collection of stitches they believed the girls could use. Some question as to whether the girls should make a sampler, much like the old-fashioned ones, or apply the stitches at once to small articles they were going to make. Some advantages are to be found in each method. At any rate, the two women agreed upon the stitches they would teach at the start. Nancy has a leaflet which shows six different stitches. They are shown in such detail that it is possible to duplicate them without an instructor. Follow the directions given at the end of the column today and you can procure one of the sheets.

The first stitch shows an arrangement of the lazy daisy in a compact circle. Series of these may be made at regular intervals between two rows of buttonhole border. This border is the second arrangement shown on the leaflet. Its depth will be determined by the depth of stitches and the numbers of rows worked.

The fly stitch is a most useful one. It may be used to fill in large empty spaces in flower petals, fruits, leaves.

stitch are given. An unusual arrangement of straight fagot is given. This looks something like spoke hemstitching.

The threaded running stitch is suggested for the use of two colors. One strand gives the running stitch, the other threads it.

Then there is a fishbone stitch. This is a popular one for filling leaves and oval spaces. It is one of the oldest stitches used in needlework. Every experienced needleworker is familiar with this stitch and has learned to make it easily and evenly.

REGISTRY OF BONDS URGED BY WILSON

Public and Private Corporations Warned They Must Comply With Law.

Secretary of State John B. Wilson warned all corporations, public and private, yesterday that they must comply with the laws of the state to register their bonds in his office.

"Under the laws of Georgia," Wilson said, "it is the duty of all corporations to register in the secretary of state's office any and all bonds that they have issued or endorsed. Forms for such registration are available in this office."

"The law further provides that no bonds shall be placed in circulation until such provisions are complied with and there is a severe penalty for failure to do so."

"It is not my purpose to cause any one unnecessary expense or embarrassment but I am warning all corporations, public and private, that they must comply with this law."

"There is nothing offensive in the requirement, and every corporation should promptly register their bonds," Wilson said that he was receiving splendid co-operation from county officials and attorneys for corporations in reporting on the bonds. He said, however, that there were a number of municipalities and corporations which had not so far complied with the law and that he wanted to give them plenty of time before strict enforcement.

Wilson said the law had been on the state books of Georgia for about 60 years.

COAL SHIPMENTS REPLENISH SUPPLY

City Declared Out of Danger of Shortage as Weather Moderates.

With 7,500 tons of coal reported to be rolling into Atlanta, Charles M. Farrar, executive secretary of the Atlanta Coal Merchants' Credit Association, declared yesterday the city is out of danger of a shortage in fuel due to freezing weather.

"We have not been without coal and at present our supply seems to be adequate," he said. "Even if a consumer can't buy coal from one dealer he can buy it from another. The situation will become less dangerous with a moderation in weather."

About 3,000 tons of coal were received yesterday, Farrar said. He pointed out that 2,500 tons are received daily in normal times. Orders from homes yesterday were being filled consistently, he said, with only a few dealers reporting their stock to be depleted.

He warned citizens not to hoard or buy hysterically. An increase in the price of coal at the mine, which ranges from 50 cents to $1 a ton, has been absorbed by local dealers, he said.

My Day By ELEANOR ROOSEVELT

THE WHITE HOUSE, WASHINGTON, D. C.—This was a varied morning! After the usual routine I started with appointments at 11:30. First of all Mrs. Luther A. Johnson, wife of a congressman from Texas, came in to see me about the possibility of establishing a Stephen Foster music week in the schools here. She had inaugurated one with great success in her own home town, and told me how very interested all the children were.

Stephen Foster has written some songs which nearly all children, as well as grown-ups, in this country know. "Way Down Upon the Suwannee River," "Old Black Joe" and many others are known the world over.

Memorials have been erected to him, but Mrs. Johnson would like to see a memorial in Washington to help young and struggling musicians. I do not know, of course, how her plans will work out, but suggested that she see the district commissioners and the school authorities.

One cannot help being sympathetic to a memorial of this kind. I always wonder that more people haven't the impetus to create a memorial that will benefit the living.

Close upon her heels came Mr. A. L. Runyan with the machine that he has spent ten years working on, called the translophon. He told me the same story that nearly all inventors tell—of years when no one would listen to him and finally the demonstration which brought him the interest of his audience. His machine will be a marvelous assistance to home education and is being tried out in schools and universities.

He has given one to the White House. I only wish I had the time to start to learn a foreign language with its aid at once.

After this demonstration came Congressman White, of Idaho, to tell me of some wonderful pictures taken by a friend of his, which he and the friend would like to show to the President. After that came Mrs. Martin, from Oklahoma, the democratic vice chairman of the state committee, just to shake me by the hand.

This was lucky, otherwise I should have been very late for lunch.

GEORGIA CELEBRATES OGLETHORPE LANDING

Birthday of State Observed by Schools and Special Events.

SAVANNAH, Ga., Feb. 12.—(AP)—To other states in the nation, today was celebrated as Abraham Lincoln's birthday but in Georgia the day had historical significance—the birthday of the former president, and the anniversary of the founding of the state.

On February 1, 1733, James Oglethorpe and his band of settlers arrived near here to make their homes. The next day, February 2, they held a thanksgiving service to express their gratitude for a safe voyage, and for the opportunities that lay ahead.

Under a change in the calendar since then, the original February 2 was made February 12.

Today was observed with special programs in the schools, and in some cities as a day of feasting, at which Georgia products were featured.

A Georgia Day dinner was held in Valdosta tonight, at which Kirkland Sullivan, of Blackshear, president of the Georgia Press Association, was chief speaker.

Waycross celebrated with an all-day program, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce.

The Georgia Historical Society held one session here in Savannah, and then adjourned to Ebenezer to hear talks on the Georgia Salzburger Society.

"I don't see. But if what you think is true," she said slowly, "we are in terrible danger."

"Certainly we are," Lynn answered simply, almost as if surprised at her denials.

"Prendergast and Flora are involved in one—perhaps two murders," Lynn whispered.

"Trudy and Mrs. Roy."

"Oh, it can't be true," the girl breathed. "If it is, why don't you just slip away—you and I—get into San Francisco, where there are lights and people and restaurants and noises!"

"How?" the man asked.

"Well—" fear was playing on her heart like fingers on the taut strings of a violin now. "We could—one of the cars—only I can't drive," she said, swallowing a dry throat.

"Rand!" she exclaimed in sudden relief. "He's not in this, he isn't such a fool as to let himself into a thing like this with two crazy women!"

"No, I think he believes them. I don't think he knows. You saw how bothered he was last night when Flora said that Mrs. Roy was ill. He didn't come here until after I did. I think she told him she'd give him money; he'll be rich. And you know Rand wants to be rich."

"I suppose every one does. I came here because she is rich, and because I thought she might like me—take me along with her, or send me on a trip," Page confessed.

Lynn was listening only absently. "Shall I give you this?" he said, of the diamond.

"Oh, hadn't you better, and get the thing out of the way once and for all!"

"But you'll promise to hold it for three days?"

"If you say so. But where'll I hide it for three days?"

"Oh, you can find a thousand places. Just walk through one of the rooms, and reach up and put it on a beam."

"Lynn, I wonder you dare carry it about with you. I did today because I knew they'd all be trying to get this business—again he jerked his hand toward the house—"well out of the way," he finished. "I know they wouldn't pay any attention to me."

"The sensible thing for us to do would be to give it to her right now, and then ask to be sent into the city at once, and never come back!" Page persisted.

"And suppose they said that on account of what happened last night, and Flora being upset, we'd have to wait until tomorrow?"

"It wouldn't kill us to wait until tomorrow."

"No; but by tomorrow I'd have disappeared. They'd all wonder, they'd talk of searching—all that! And then in a few days they'd all be going away, you'd have your money, and you'd know you had let them kill me!"

"Tell me what I ought to do," Page said, trembling, holding tight to his hand. "Whatever is best for you and me. I've got to get out of here, Lynn. I'm frightened."

"They wouldn't hurt you. They'll send you over to Belmont today, with the biggest check you ever saw, if you give them that."

She thought of it. Out of this place of a hundred rooms, with its unfurnished beams and roust-plastered halls, its shadows and mysteries, away from Flora and Mrs. Prendergast and fear! The opening door seemed to let her into the sunlight.

Page looked at her companion. "We go together, or we don't go at all," she said. "I'll be with you."

"Tell Mrs. Prendergast tonight that you have the diamond hidden," Lynn said promptly, "and will give it to her on Saturday morning. Today's Tuesday. That gives them four days to pack up what they want, and get out. Rand and Flora'll sail for China on Saturday—there are boats every Saturday. If nothing happens before that, give her the diamond on Saturday."

"But suppose they, Flora and Mrs. Prendergast, plan to do something right away? I might be too late for you!"

"They won't do anything to me until they've got it."

"I'll think of a place to hide it. I'll tell you where it is," Page decided quickly, excitedly. "But one thing more, Lynn," she added, as they went down the terrace stairs and walked out on the cliff; "shall I tell Rand? He's our one hope if Flora goes queer, or if—but I can't even believe it yet—Mrs. Prendergast is only pretending to be lame."

"Don't tell him yet! She may tell him. Wait and see what happens."

Flora did not come down to luncheon; Page ate with the two men, but she was nervous and had small appetite.

Rand, in Mrs. Prendergast's room just after dinner, told her quietly that the body of Fanny Roy had been taken to Belmont, and met there by Mrs. Roy's daughter, Mrs. Hibbs, and that the funeral would take place from the Hibbs home in San Francisco the next day.

"Does Mrs. Prendergast feel frightened?" Page asked.

"I don't know," Rand said. "She had the sitting room fire to herself; their old employer had not appeared all day long, but had instead received about calls from the end, and had been sedulously attended by Flora."

"We think she does. She won't show it," the man responded. And these were only references to last night's tragedy.

They were talking along very quietly of books, of ships, of China, and Page was becoming drowsy, when Rand said suddenly, "You will go away with me, won't you?"

The girl looked at him curiously, her color rising. His tone told her he was hardly aware that he had spoken aloud.

"I mean—" he said confusedly, "I mean that I am going away—almost immediately. I want you—most terribly—to go too. I want you to wait for me—somewhere, anywhere—and we'll—there'll be—"

"He broke off abruptly, and there was another pause. "I don't know what I'm saying," he muttered then.

Page was still. The flutter that his shaken tone brought to her own heart, silenced her. Presently Rand spoke again, in his usual quiet tones.

"I told you weeks ago that I had no right to say this to you, and I didn't mean to say it," he said. "But is there any chance—I don't mean now—I don't mean in this accursed place! But after weeks, months, when all this is closed up and forgotten, would you mind my saying to you that you would wait for me somewhere? We might begin again—there's such a thing as beginning again: we might forget all this as if it had never been!"

"Rand . . . no," the girl said quietly, after a moment. "I'm terribly sorry. I've never cared that way for any man."

"But you might. Any girl might. You'll love some man some time."

"I don't know. Just now it's all mixed up in—being afraid of this place," Page said. "Since last night I've wanted—horribly—to get away. I've felt scared quite suddenly, of Flora, and of . . . She finished the sentence with a motion of her head toward the closed door of Mrs. Prendergast's room. She added, "Did you ever think that she was less lame than she pretends to be—that she can walk when she wants to?"

"I've suspected it for a long time," Rand answered, unhesitatingly.

"Do you think she is Lynn's grandmother?"

"Does he?"

"He does and he doesn't. You know how he is."

"I think," Rand said quietly, after thought, "that the sooner we all get away from here the better. I think I'll talk the old lady into it right away. No use all going crazy here together. But—but I must have you, Page, he ended.

The phrasing of it startled her. Page said, "What of Flora?" even while she was well aware that just now Flora didn't matter.

IT DOES NOT HARM MEAT TO BE FROZEN.

Experiments in London have shown that frozen meat is just as good as any other cooled and refrigerated meat, provided it is not allowed to thaw out from the time it is first frozen, until the time it is cooked for food. To thaw it out before cooking is to damage the meat cells and harm the health, although this does not seem to reduce the food value.

IV—The Mormon Tabernacle.

A short distance from the Mormon temple in Salt Lake City is a building of a very different kind. It is known as the tabernacle, and it contains a famous organ.

The tabernacle was put up rather quickly, being dedicated in 1867, only two years after the actual building was started. Sandstone blocks were used to some extent, but for the most part it is composed of wood.

The walls of the tabernacle form an oval, and the roof is red. The roof rises to a height of 80 feet.

Part of mighty organ in Mormon tabernacle.

Some persons have said that no nails were used in building the tabernacle, but that is a mistake. Nails were employed for the stairways, for the floor, and to hold down shingles on the roof. The 13 great arches and some other parts of the enormous roof are held together, however, by wooden pegs and cowhide. Almost 400,000 shingles were used to cover the roof, but in 1900 the shingles were taken off and a metal covering was put in their place.

The Mormon tabernacle is noted because sound travels so well through the great auditorium, which will seat 8,000 persons. The voice of a speaker is carried to all parts, even though he may speak in a low tone.

By good fortune for the Mormons, an organ builder, carpenter and organ-builder joined the church before the tabernacle was set up. His name was Joseph Bridges. He crossed the Pacific ocean, and in answer to the request of Brigham Young, built an organ of great size. Fine-grained white pine was hauled from a valley about 300 miles south of Salt Lake City, for use in making the pipes. Glue was obtained through boiling buffalo skins and cattle hides.

One hundred men worked on the organ for 21 months before the opening of the tabernacle. It was played with 700 pipes, but about 1,300 more pipes were added later.

A Chicago musical firm enlarged and improved the organ in 1900, and it was in large part rebuilt by an organ company of Hartford, Conn., in 1915. At present it has electric action. The pipes range in length from less than an inch to 32 feet.

A Mormon official told me there were 174,000 visitors to the temple grounds last year. He asked me to mention the motto over his desk, which urged people to be fair in their thoughts toward others. The best part of the motto, it seemed to me, was to be found in the words, "Be kind."

FARM BILL'S VALIDITY UPHELD BY WALLACE

Secretary of Agriculture Advances Three Reasons for Belief.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Feb. 12.—(AP)—Declaring that the new proposed farm program is "a sincere attempt" to meet constitutional limitations set by the supreme court, Secretary Wallace today advanced three reasons for believing the plan would be valid.

"We believe the supreme court will approve the new legislation," Wallace said at an Indiana farm bureau meeting here, "if it recognizes any one of the three following propositions:

"1. The fact of the nation-wide interdependence of all commerce, from the humblest farm to the largest corporation.

"2. The extent to which the doctrine of states' rights is being used as the final refuge for anti-social corporations.

"3. Federal responsibility for the post-war agricultural dilemma.

"If it was the proper function of the federal government in wartime to encourage farmers to plow up land which should never have been plowed, in order to produce wheat for our Allies; if the federal government was justified in encouraging the mining of our soil to supply a European demand which has now disappeared; then it seems to me no less the federal government's proper function to encourage the return of that land to grass and trees; to make it worth the farmers' while to improve the soil's fertility by planting soil-building crops."

Continuing his criticism of the supreme court's AAA decision, Wallace said "most of us" thought the adjustment act constitutional when it was passed.

"Some of us, including three justices of the supreme court," he added, "think so still."

The AAA, the secretary said, "was closely in accord with the platforms of both the great political parties of 1932."

On the occasion of Lincoln's birthday, Wallace recalled Lincoln's dissatisfaction with some supreme court decisions.

"He took the view," Wallace said, referring to Lincoln, "that the Dred Scott decision was a tragic abuse of judicial power. He knew that the majority of the court had misread the trend and the temper of the times."

In 1858 . . . Lincoln stated that he declined to abide by the decision as rendered."

EARLY FISHING TRIP PLANNED BY F. D. R.

Chief Executive Expected To Start Cruise Some Time in March.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—(AP)—With snow surrounding the White House, President Roosevelt today indicated a desire to take his annual late winter fishing trip in southern waters off the Florida coast.

Governor Scholtz, of Florida, extended the invitation to Mr. Roosevelt and reported that the President expressed a hope of starting south some time in March.

Mr. Roosevelt often has expressed the belief that a chief executive should get away from the White House at least every three months. For the last three winters he has spent a week or two each year fishing off Florida.

Definite announcement of this year's trip is expected to await a final checkup of progress on Capitol Hill and of national conditions generally.

Mr. Roosevelt will journey north next week to receive an honorary degree from Temple University in Philadelphia on February 22.

He will proceed on the same day to Harvard University to attend a meeting that night of the Fly Club to which he belonged while at Harvard.

It is the intention of the President to go from Cambridge, Mass., to his home at Hyde Park, N. Y., to spend a few days before returning to the capital.

TRADE FEDERATION PROTESTS WAGES

Scale Fixed by Bureau of Public Roads for Workers Is Flayed.

Vigorous protest against wage scales fixed by the Bureau of Public Roads for common and semi-skilled labor on federal highway projects in Fulton and DeKalb counties was forwarded to Washington last night by the Atlanta Federation of Trades.

The executive committee of the central body, by order of the federation, sent to Congressman Robert Ramoek a communication asking him to take steps to have the wage scales re-established on a higher basis.

It was pointed out by the central body that common labor on highway projects financed in whole or in part by the federal government will be paid $32.50 per month minus time lost on account of bad weather. Intermediate, or semi-skilled labor will be $44.50 per month under the scale set by the Bureau of Roads. Workers of this class also will not be paid for lost time on account of weather conditions.

In the protest forwarded to Washington it was pointed out that these wage scales are lower than the security wages paid by the government on WPA projects. The security wage for common labor in Fulton and DeKalb counties is $33 per month, without lost time, and $49 per month for intermediate labor, also with no deduction for time lost on account of bad weather.

POPE PIUS OBSERVES 14TH ANNIVERSARY

VATICAN CITY, Feb. 12.—(AP)—Priests and laymen throughout the hall of the Vatican today as Pope Pius celebrated the 14th anniversary of his coronation in a colorful celebration.

Amid shouts of "Viva Il Papa" and "Multos Annos" (may you live many years longer), the pontiff was borne to the Sistine chapel, where an hour-long mass was said by Cardinal Naselli-Rocca, the first prince of the church named after the pope's accession.

The pope blessed the spectators, raising his hand above his white cassock and vivid red mantle.

After the mass, he retired to his apartments, where hundreds of congratulatory messages poured in throughout the day.

12 Passengers, Crew Uninjured in Plane Crash.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Feb. 12.—(AP)—Twelve passengers and a crew of three were shaken up but escaped injury tonight when a twin-motored American Airlines transport plane crashed after an emergency landing at Bowman Field.

The plane, on the New York to Los Angeles run, was routed through Louisville tonight because of weather conditions. It landed here without difficulty, but a few seconds after taking off came back to the field because of difficulty resulting from ice on the wings and carburetor.

In landing the plane skidded on the ice-covered field, and turned over in a ground loop. The left motor was torn out, and a wing was damaged.

Most of the passengers said they would continue their journey by train. Airlines canceled all flights from here tonight.

PILOT UNHURT AS PLANE FLOPS OVER

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Feb. 12.—(AP)—An airplane flopped over on its back after landing at the airport here early tonight, but the damage was said to be negligible.

The pilot, identified by airport officials as J. W. Brooks, of New York, was uninjured and left immediately for a hunting trip in south Georgia.

CLOUDY SKIES, WARMER IS FORECAST FOR CITY

Another mild day, with the prospect of rain, is scheduled for Atlanta today by Chief Forecaster George W. Minding, of the weather bureau.

The mercury this morning is scheduled to start at a 38-degree minimum, climbing during the day under cloudy skies that bear a threat of rain.

Yesterday the temperatures mounted to 52 degrees. The warmer weather was general throughout the southeast yesterday, most states reporting temperatures 15 to 20 degrees higher than the day before.

Weather officials announced yesterday that hereafter official readings of temperatures will be made for Atlanta stop the new postoffice building. For more than a year, the official readings have been made at Candler field.

Conditions have been improved at the downtown office, however, with the removal of a heating plant that had been affecting the instruments.

"After all," said Mr. Minding yesterday, "the downtown record is the one actually preferred by the leading interests affected by the weather conditions in the city, while the airport record should be regarded more as representing a spot between Hapeville and College Park."

C. B. TAYLOR SERVICES WILL BE HELD TODAY

Funeral services for Charles B. Taylor, of Sewell road, superintendent of the Southern Natural Gas Corporation, who died Tuesday, will be held at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning at the Spring Hill chapel of H. M. Patterson & Son.

The Rev. G. W. Gasque will officiate, and burial will be in Macon, Ga. Mr. Taylor, a native of Plainfield, N. J., had been associated in the oil industry since 1918. He was a Mason and a World War veteran.

FRIENDS SEEK RELEASE OF KIDNAPED AMERICAN

Mexican Bandits Trained by Federal Police; Ransom Payment Awaited.

GUADALAJARA, Mexico, Feb. 12.—(AP)—Friends attempted today to raise money to ransom Samuel C. Faneuf, American mining official, from a kidnap band which has held him for two days.

A federal cavalry detachment is following the bandits, but is not attempting to effect a capture, pending ransom negotiations. The ransom demanded is still undisclosed.

Associates expressed confidence Faneuf was safe as long as the troops did not molest the kidnapers.

Authorities said they were convinced that Candelario Rojas, insurgent leader, heads the band.

"Rojas has a reputation for kindness and fair treatment of his victims," Faneuf's wife explained. "He will not harm my husband, I am sure. If the reward is paid quickly and no attempt is made to arrest him until after my husband is safe."

Paul Avery, Californian who was kidnaped with Faneuf but released yesterday to arrange for ransom, conferred with friends in an attempt to raise the sum.

George H. Winter, American consul here who is closely following the case, said the negotiations might take two or three days.

The troops following the bandits, whose leader was called a "renegade but not a murderer," are under orders not to endanger the captive's life in any way but to attempt to arrest the gang when the American is released.

Faneuf is assistant manager and Avery is consulting engineer of the Empara Mining Company, whose office is at Etzatlán. The men were seized at the company's office Monday.

ENGLAND TO KEEP EMPIRE INTACT

Commons Assured British Will Not Relinquish Any Possessions.

LONDON, Feb. 12.—(AP)—Assurances that Great Britain would give over any part of her empire to foreign powers were given to the house of commons today by J. H. Thomas, secretary for colonies.

Two specific questions on the subject had been placed in the house and Thomas answered them jointly, saying:

"The British government has not considered nor is considering handing over any British colonies or territories under mandate."

The statement provoked cheers.

Notice was given that Prime Minister Baldwin would be asked next Tuesday if he would consider the advisability of offering the United States navy the use of British naval bases in order to secure an American agreement to a reduction in the size of battleships.

Following a cabinet meeting at which defense problems were discussed Baldwin called on King Edward at Buckingham palace. His audience lasted for half an hour.

Federal Grand Jury Indicts Man For Mailing Threatening Letter

John Devaine Caldwell, 18, of LaGrange, used such direct methods to collect $1,500 he thought was due him that he was indicted yesterday by the federal grand jury on charges of mailing threatening communications.

Caldwell's indictment was based on the following letter received in the mails by J. Forrest Johnson, of Troup county:

"January 23, 1936.
"J. Forrest Johnson:
"You probably will recall Mr. J. W. Caldwell, who died a good many years ago, leaving his son, John, $3,000 insurance. You also probably recall being the bondsman. I am his son, John. I understand a bondsman is held responsible for whatever happens to the estate. In other words, you are responsible for that $3,000."

"I received approximately $1,200. This leaves $1,800 still unaccounted for. I'm not asking you for it. I'm demanding it. If it is not paid you will be extremely sorry. You're going to pay that money or else."

"This is what you are to do: Wrap the money in a plain package, preferably in $5 and $10 bills. Mail the package, special delivery, to 214 Johnson street, in my name. If you fail to do all this you will be entirely responsible for what happens."

"I realize this is a kind of unlawful way to collect the money, but I think it is the best way to obtain quick results. I also think you are intelligent enough not to notify the police. If you do—watch out."

"P. S.—The money must be in my hands by no later than 5 p. m. Friday, January 24. You will find it better if you try no tricks."

"J. C."

An indictment was also returned against Dr. Benjamin Franklin Williams, Atlanta physician, charging him with the sale of morphine. Doctor Williams was already under bond in two other indictments returned by the same grand jury last month.

Dr. Edward Joseph Pierce, of Winston, Douglas county, together with his wife, his son, Tobe Pierce, and Mrs. Tobe Pierce, were indicted on four charges of violation of the narcotic law.

Kenneth Hodges was indicted on a bill charging the sale of 308 grains of morphine at Dalton, Ga., last November.

George Harrison Barker, alias H. M. Smith, was indicted on a charge of impersonating a federal officer on May 11, 1935. It is charged that Barker represented himself as a federal road inspector and borrowed money from various persons in LaGrange.

Ralph Davis and Bill Harris were indicted for the alleged theft of 14 gallons of gasoline from a tractor belonging to the United States Forest Service.

Emery M. K. Hillman was indicted for the alleged impersonation of a federal officer. Hillman, the indictment charges, represented himself as an agent of an old-age pension bureau and induced prospective recipients to pay in small deposits to cover expenses.

Funeral services for William D. Bentley, 18, who was found dead of a self-inflicted bullet wound in a bedroom of his home at 273 MacKenzie drive, N. E., Monday night, will be held at 11 o'clock this morning at the chapel of J. Austin Dillon.

The Rev. W. H. Knight will officiate, and burial will be in Marietta.

Coroner Paul Donohoe said the youth had been shot through the heart, but it could not be determined if the bullet were self-inflicted accidentally or with suicidal intent. An inquest was held Tuesday.

Seven other teams are entered. They are Fulton High, Decatur High, Newnan, North Fulton, Marietta, Druid Hills and Commercial.

All teams will be in action Friday, with two games carded for the afternoon and another two at night. Semi-finals will be played Saturday night and the finals, with a girls game as an added attraction, will be played on Monday night.

Newnan and North Fulton, the host team, were originally scheduled to play tonight, but since Marietta had been suspended from the N. G. I. C., that game will be played as one of the night attractions Friday.

MARIETTA CASE. Marietta has appealed its case to the officials of the Georgia High School Association and should the appeal be sustained, Marietta will play the winner of the Newnan-North Fulton game, probably early Friday afternoon. In case the officials uphold the decision of the fifth district of the N. G. I. C., Marietta will be eliminated from the tournament and the winner of the Newnan-North Fulton game will draw a bye in the second round and go to the semi-finals.

Russell High won the tournament last year on the East Point court in the only championship for Russell, the only championship for Commercial High was the runner-up and the two will be among the favorites to win in the 1936 crown.

Student tickets will be 25 cents for each session and $1 for the entire tournament. Adult tickets will be 50 cents, and $1.50 for the tourney.

OFFICIALS. Claude Bond, popular Southern league baseball umpire, and Dr. William Gage will be the officials and both will work in every game.

Rufus Godwin, Commercial, G. L. Amster, Decatur, and Hamack, North Fulton, are members of the tournament committee and will be in charge of details.

Since the conference members have played independent schedules, members of the committee decided to place them all on equal basis and draw the pairings from a hat.

And in the draw, Russell, Spalding, Fulton, Decatur, Marietta and Griffin came out in the upper bracket. Newnan, North Fulton, Marietta, Druid Hills and Commercial were drawn in the lower half. Fulton, Decatur, Marietta, Druid Hills and Commercial drew byes in the opening round.

In the Friday afternoon schedule, Decatur meets the winner of the Marietta-Griffin game at 3 o'clock, with Fulton playing the winner of the Spalding-Russell game at 4 o'clock.

Druid Hills and Commercial open Friday night's play at 8 o'clock with Newnan playing North Fulton at 9 o'clock. Winners in the upper bracket play at 8 o'clock and the lower bracket semi-finals will be played at 9 o'clock Saturday night.

THE FAIRINGS.

Upper bracket: Russell vs. Spalding, 9 p. m. Fulton vs. by, Decatur vs. by, Marietta vs. Griffin, 8 p. m. Lower bracket: Newnan vs. North Fulton, Friday, Druid Hills vs. by, Commercial vs. by.

SPRINGWOOD PLANTATION, THOMASVILLE, Ga., Feb. 12.—It was just a few days ago that a young colored boy, bringing cut logs into a room where he had not been before, turned toward the fireplace and, in the twilight gloom, saw himself in the length mirror of a near-by door.

"Who DAT boy?" he exclaimed loudly, dropping his logs and pointing at his own image as he leaped back.

Ever since that day he is called by his own family and everyone else on the plantation by the rather unusual name of "Who Dat Boy."

Jokes of this kind get about. And so it was just yesterday that a couple of young quail went home to the covey in the evening and said, "Who dat dog?"

This caused old Bob White to deliver himself of a lecture, the general theme of which was that young quail of the modern generation were going to the devil; that they hung around too close to the homes of human beings and were picking up all sorts of slang and dangerous and unseemly phrases.

But the quail persisted they were not wise-cracking. They had been feeding peaceably enough when suddenly they heard a dog coming. They had looked up and seen a strange looking thing bounding across the field. It had long yellow and orange hair and looked like a long corsage of chrysanthemums which had developed legs and was running about.

They went about their feeding, believing it to be one of the illiterate dogs which have no talents for hunting. But, to their astonishment, the elongated bundle of chrysanthemums sniffed right up to them and pointed.

There was no one around with a gun, and so after a while the living corsage of chrysanthemums went on away and the quail went home to ask, "Who dat dog?"

I am given to understand by Norman, who understands what the quail talk about, that they all were very indignant about it all, and are thinking of taking drastic measures. They know how to act with a regular pointer and setter, but when a bundle of chrysanthemums begins pointing they feel it is a little too much.

HUNTING WITH ROMA.

As for me, I am completely captivated by this rather vigorous and animated bouquet of chrysanthemums. She is Italian, and her eyes look down a long, shaggy nose. The eyes seem to say they know all there is to know about the world, and it is all just a little bit humorous, so why not enjoy it all?

Roma was brought to Georgia by Thomas C. Chubb, of this plantation, who purchased her in Italy last summer when she was but a small pup. Roma still isn't grown. She is, I fear, something of a huzzy. At the slightest word of encouragement, Roma will deposit some 50 pounds of wiggling dog in your lap, will sweep a yard or so of extremely wet tongue across your face, bite your ear or chin or face, and otherwise show her joy at being spoken to in an encouraging tone of voice.

The yellow eyes, looking out from her shaggy yellow face, give Roma the expression of an eternal sprite or comedienne. But the dog is a bird dog. She is not a retriever at all, not as yet having mastered that art. But she points birds and she holds the point.

ROMA IN ACTION.

It was just today I first saw Roma in action. She was released with a brace of pointers. It is extremely surprising to see her in action. She is as long of body as any bird dog. But she is covered with a long, heavy, shaggy coat of yellow and orange hair. And her nose is as long, or longer, than any scottie's. And her beautiful yellow eyes look out from behind a tangle of hair. A dark tan-colored nose tops off this general appearance.

A gentleman going into the field with an acute hang-over would, I am sure, be ready for the pledge were he to suddenly come upon Roma in action. She looks like no bird dog on earth. Yet she is.

She is just a puppy. Yet she is, according to the hunting records, credited already with a number of correctly handled covey finds.

Today I saw her work. After being put down, the three dogs each made a cast, Roma showing as much range as either of her competitors. The three of them converged on a broom-sage field.

At the edge of it one of the pointers froze on point. The other backed him. Roma was to the left, hunting. She came on over, being just a puppy, but arrived just after the covey got up.

She was the first to point one of the singles. She found it in the deep broom sage and held it without moving until the bird was kicked up.

I think that particularly Mr. Bob White had seen Roma and her laughing eyes. Man, he went away from there! All Bob Whites get going with a magnificent thunder of wings. But this quail was putting it on. He added a few twists and swerves and his open field running was very reminding of Shorty Roberts when that bouncing young man, very little larger than a full-grown quail, was playing quarterback for Georgia Tech.

Roma has that effect on quail. I can understand any member of the Bob White family coming home, in some trepidation, and demanding to know "Who dat dog?"

Roma is one of the finest Italian products I've seen. And to hear the colored boys on the plantation using Italian words to make her lie down and do a few other tricks is something else.

THE GREAT BREAD-BOX ROBBERY.

The great bread-box robbery at Springwood Plantation has been solved. Each night since early fall, a loaf of bread on a cake has disappeared from the bread box. It was a bit annoying. Everyone about the place protested innocence. Yet the bread kept going.

But yesterday the mystery was solved. Springwood Spider, the beautiful pointer which is rated as perhaps the best bird finder in the southern field trials, was the guilty one.

He had learned to take the handle of the bread box in his teeth. He then discovered that if he walked backward the bread box would follow him. Once he did so, it was opened and there would be bread. He liked bread. So he obeyed that impulse.

He was caught in the act. But no one told him it was wrong. But now he doesn't understand why something has been done to the bread box.

HUNTING WITH A CAMERA.

The finest job of game preservation is being done on the plantations and preserves of south Georgia. With very few exceptions, the game laws are rigidly observed. Shooting is not overdone. Food is planted for the birds. And each year sees an increase.

For several days now, there being no demand for quail as

SCANDINAVIANS SET SKI PACES FOR OLYMPICS

Son of Switzerland's Ex-President Wins Bob-Sled Title.

GARMISCH-PARTENKIRCHEN, Germany, Feb. 12.—(P)—The Scandinavians' dominance of Olympic skiing competition continued today as Arthur Larsson, of Sweden, set the pace for 115 skiers from 22 nations.

Larsson sped over the 18-kilometer course, that included every variety of track in the course, in 14 minutes and 38 seconds. Scandinavians swept all six scoring places and finished 10 men among the first 11.

In asserting his supremacy over the world's best ski runners, Larsson beat Obbjorn Hagen, of Norway, by 55 seconds. The Norwegian was clocked in 1:15:33 with Pekka Niemi, of Finland, third in 1:16:53.

Against the Scandinavians' combined display of endurance, fortitude and skill, the Americans were outclassed. They all finished far back.

Although considered a separate event in Olympic competition, the results of the run also will be used in figuring the winners of the combined event, which will be concluded tomorrow when 51 of today's competitors compete in the jumping test.

Sports Writer Wins at Bob-Sled.

GARMISCH-PARTENKIRCHEN, Germany, Feb. 12.—(P)—Pierre Musy, sports-writing son of a former president of Switzerland, led the way to a decisive triumph in the four-man bob-sledding championship of the fourth winter Olympic games today.

Sending his sled down the 1,600-meter Olympic chute in aggregate time of five minutes, 18.85 seconds for four heats, Musy captured the championship by a margin of 2.88 seconds over his compatriot, Reto Capadrutt, slim, young inn-keeper, who, himself, shattered the course record on his final descent.

In the face of the daring, skillful driving of the Swiss aces and of Frederick McVoy, of Great Britain, Americans, led by Robert C. Greaser, of Baltimore, and sixth place although they made much better showings in the final two heats than they did yesterday when the competition opened.

Norway Wins In Speed Skate.

GARMISCH-PARTENKIRCHEN, Germany, Feb. 12.—(P)—Ivar Ballangrud, Norway's ace speed skater, became the first double champion of the fourth winter Olympics today as America's bob-sledders, skiers and skaters met with decisive setbacks on every side.

On the heels of his record-equalling victory in the 500-meters yesterday, Ballangrud smashed Clas Thunberg's 12-year-old Olympic record for the 500 meters by more than 20 seconds to earn his second individual title of the games.

FIRE DAMAGES OAKLAWN TRACK

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Feb. 12.—(P)—Slight damage resulted today when fire damaged a harness room in the Oaklawn race track here. Approximately 50 horses were removed to adjoining stables were removed without injury.

Track officials said cause of the blaze was undetermined, although firemen reported the fire apparently resulted from a charcoal burner in the room. Racing Secretary Eugene Bury said the loss was slight.

Although the damage immediately adjoining the small harness structure are owned by H. H. Temple, of Lexington.

GOLFING PARADE HALTS ON FRIDAY AT GLEN ARVEN

Nation's Notables Ready at Thomasville; Others Expected Today.

THOMASVILLE, Ga., Feb. 12.—(P)—The parade of the professional golfers around the winter circuits halts here Friday for the $3,000 Thomasville open tournament at 72 holes over the difficult Glen Arven Country Club course.

The first 15 holes of the medal play event are scheduled for Friday, with 18 following Saturday. The field for the 36-hole finals on Sunday is reduced to the low-scoring 60 golfers.

Walter Hagen and Paul Runyan had not yet arrived but were expected to pull in tomorrow, local officials said. Friends of Babe Ruth here said they expected him to arrive bringing along Dizzy Dean and Sammy Byrd.

Little Gene Sarazen arrived late today.

LEAGUE PREXY CALLS MEETING

ALBANY, Ga., Feb. 12.—(P)—A meeting of the directors of the Class D Georgia Prexy League for 1936 has been called for tomorrow morning in Thomasville by Holis Fort, president, according to information received here by M. Wiggins, president of the Albany club.

Mr. Wiggins said he understood that Moultrie club officials had protested the action taken last Sunday at a meeting here by the league directors replacing the Moultrie franchise in the league with Dothan, Ala.

League officials were informed that Bob Murray, manager of the Moultrie club last season, was owner of the franchise and had a complete right to transfer it if he so desired.

Al Hall, president of the Moultrie Chamber of Commerce and head of the Moultrie Baseball Association, is reported to have said that he knew nothing of the proposed change. No intimation that the franchise might be moved, he added, had come to his ears.

Although no announcement has been made concerning the reason for the Thomasville meeting, it is generally believed that the directors have been called together to consider the Moultrie protests.

Tech Track Practice Gets Under Way Today

Perrin Walker Is Outstanding Member of Large and Promising Squad.

By Jack Troy.

A soft-spoken mother yesterday sort of made the sports department see the light. There was a rather long and interesting phone conversation.

"I do not wish to tell anyone how to run a sports department," she said firmly. "But now that football is old news and baseball has not begun, I think you ought to devote some lively attention to track."

This mother, who revealed herself as a real track fan, said that she had a boy at one of Georgia's leading colleges.

Where individual performance is put to the test. In other sports, the boys get help from teammates. But in track, it's up to the individual. One helps him lose that heavy shot or clear a hurdle or run the distance races or the sprints.

FINE TRACK MEN.

"We have fine track athletes in the Georgia colleges and prep schools. And they deserve more attention from the press." All of which is precisely right.

Track does deserve more attention and will receive it just due.

Georgia has a great hurdler in Forrest Townes and a fine sprinter in Robert Packard. Both are Olympic prospects.

Track practice officially begins today at Georgia Tech. Coach George Griffin has an Olympic candidate in Perrin Walker, a sprinter, high jumper, shot putter and broad jumper.

Perrin may try for the decathlon. Or he may concentrate on the sprints or the field events.

Tech track prospects have been studying correct form by watching films of the last Olympic games. This will help them when they start practice today.

VARSITY SQUAD.

The varsity squad includes: Charles Bickert, R. D. Brown, J. P. Byrd, J. F. Donovan, E. B. Emery, Ed Fambrough, F. E. Floyd, R. A. Foster, Ralph McKelvey, W. H. Mason, J. W. Miles, M. L. Goldman, J. Robinson, W. L. Rooney, C. R. Simon, D. M. Spruce, C. A. Strahan, J. H. Taylor, N. M. Vaughn, Perrin Walker, Julian Watters, Harvey West, J. E. York and W. S. Martin.

The freshman squad includes Bob Allison, R. B. Baser, Charles Baker, Charles Bohrer, A. R. Boers, R. T. Campen, W. Dodd, S. Doe, F. A. Fraser, R. F. Head, A. H. Hoot, R. M. Johnson, Fred Jones, E. F. A. Stone, Tom Teague, C. J. Watson, George Williams.

Dutchie Konemann, a sprinter, Lawrence Hays and Harry Appleby are other varsity trackmen. They will join the team after spring football.

Tech will have at least 100 athletes engaged in varsity and freshman track this spring.

TARZAN AND THE LEOPARD MEN No. 40

When the girl was led before Lumini, the wily high priest concealed his surprise and took quick advantage of the situation. "Behold!" he cried; "the Leopard god looks with favor upon me, and has brought this white maiden to be high priestess of our temple."

Lumini was shrewd. It was he who organized this gang of jungle racketeers known as the Leopard Men. He had invented the Leopard god and all the horrible rituals which welded his ruthless followers into a vast secret brotherhood of blood and iron.

He seemed destined to establish an inviolable empire of greed and crime. In more civilized realms he would have been known as the "big shot." There was only one man in all Africa who could challenge his power; but that man had already run afoul of his cohorts.

Tarzan rushed fiercely upon the four Leopard Men who had leaped from ambush to attack Orlando. Since Orlando was suffering from a wound, the Jungle Lord expected little aid from him. Tarzan was virtually alone against the four steel-taloned fiends!

"Ask The Man Who 'Phones One'"

... And he will tell you that it is an easy matter to call Walnut 6565 and insert a want ad in The Constitution.

He will also tell you that he gets results ... and after all ... it's results that count.
